SUMMER INSTITUTE ON CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT IN ANTISEMITISM STUDIES

WELCOME PACKET

31 JULY - 12 AUGUST, 2016
ST. ANTONY'S COLLEGE, OXFORD
June 21, 2016

Dear Colleagues,

It is with great pleasure that I am writing to welcome you to the Summer Institute on Curriculum Development for the Interdisciplinary Study of Antisemitism, to be held at St. Antony's College, Oxford, beginning Sunday, 31 July.

I am certain given your qualifications, experience and commitment to understanding and combating antisemitism, and to scholarship itself, that you will add much to the program. The success of the workshop is dependent on the contributions you and our colleagues will bring to the seminar room.

I am optimistic that the Summer Institute will continue to make inroads into creating a “space” within the university for the study of contemporary antisemitism as a new academic discipline. In effect, we are beginning to break a taboo – break the silence.

Through our groundbreaking program, we are developing a formal and informal network of scholars committed to this goal. We will also begin to develop bi-annual international conferences for Critical Interdisciplinary Contemporary Antisemitism Studies. We hope that more professors will teach courses in contemporary antisemitism studies as the years pass and will join our efforts. Your involvement and assistance is very welcome. In fact, we hope you will become an Ambassador for these efforts.

See you in Oxford!

Yours,

Charles Asher Small

July 31 to August 12, 2016

ISGAP LECTURER BIOGRAPHIES
Professor Gabriel Brahm
gbrahm@nmu.edu

Gabriel Noah Brahm is an Associate Professor of English at Northern Michigan University, specializing in literary theory and Middle East studies. In 2014-15 he was a Visiting Professor at The Hebrew University of Jerusalem (teaching in The School of Philosophy and Religions), and in 2010 he was a visiting scholar at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum Center for Advanced Holocaust Studies (studying campus antisemitism). He is a Research Fellow in Israel Studies at Brandeis University, an Israel on Campus Coalition Faculty Fellow, a Scholars for Peace in the Middle East (SPME) Fellow, and a member of the Institute for National Security Studies (INSS) of Tel Aviv's Working Group on Delegitimization. He is coeditor of The Case Against Academic Boycotts of Israel, coauthor of The Jester and the Sages: Mark Twain in the Conversation with Nietzsche, Freud and Marx, and film reviewer for the journal Fathom: For a Deeper Understanding of Israel and the Region. His current book project is titled, Israel in Theory: The Jewish State and the Cultural Left, and it deals with the antisemitic anti-Zionist discourses emanating from postmodernism in literary theory and cultural studies. Lately, he has been traveling around the world speaking against BDS.

Dr. Glen Feder
glen.feder@isgap.org

Glen Feder is the Director of ISGAP-France and Greece. He is also a professor at the American College of Greece, where he teaches in the Department of History, Philosophy and the Ancient World. In addition to conducting the university seminar, Dr. Feder frequently appears in the French media. He received his doctorate at the University of Paris IV-Sorbonne in the Department of Philosophy, specializing in political philosophy. His dissertation was a comparative analysis of Tocqueville and Nietzsche on democracy. Dr. Feder also has master’s degrees from École des hautes études en sciences sociales and the University of Chicago. He has taught at the Washington Center and the University of Paris VIII and has published widely on antisemitism in France and on democracy and its critics, from Nietzsche to radical Islamist ideology. His forthcoming publications include a project with Dr. Charles Small on the Boycott, Divestment, Sanctions (BDS) campaign. He has worked for several think tanks and NGOs, including The Investigative Project on Terrorism, The Israel Project, the Joint Distribution Committee, and the Shalem Center (now Shalem College). He has briefed the U.S. government and law enforcement authorities on timely national security issues.
Professor David Hirsh
hirshd@gmail.com

David studied Sociology as an undergraduate at City University, London. He did an MA in Philosophy and Social Theory at Warwick University and he wrote his PhD there on Crimes Against Humanity and International Law.

He was the holder of the Sociological Review Fellowship 2001-2, which enabled him to write Law against Genocide: cosmopolitan trials, published in 2003. This book was awarded the British Sociological Association Philip Abrams Prize for the best first book in sociology in 2004. By focusing on two trials from the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia, the trial of Andrei Sawoniuk for crimes committed during the Holocaust, and the David Irving libel case, the book comes to some tentative conclusions about the possibility of the emergence of cosmopolitan law.

David received a Rothschild/Hanadiv Foundation research grant of £25000 for a project 'to investigate the character and dynamics of anti-Zionism as a contemporary political movement and its relationship to antisemitism' (January 2007 to August 2007). The central research output made possible by this funding was a major Working Paper published by the Yale Initiative for the Interdisciplinary Study of Antisemitism, entitled Anti-Zionism and Antisemitism: Cosmopolitan Reflections. Hear him talk about the paper. In 2006/7, David was a Research Fellow at Yale University.

Dr. Joel Kotek

Dr. Edy Cohen
edycohen@walla.co.il

I was born in Lebanon, in 1972, and lived as a member of the Jewish community there until 1985, when Hizballah operatives kidnapped and murdered my father and ten other members of the Lebanese Jewish community, including the community’s leader. After moving to France in 1990 and Mexico in 1994 I made Aliyah to Israel in 1995, upon which I served in the IDF, and also experienced the blessings of getting married and having three children.

In 2012 I earned my PhD in Middle Eastern History at Bar-Ilan University in Israel and until recently I have been a Post-Doctoral Research Fellow at Bar-Ilan University’s Menachem Begin Center for the Study of Resistance Movements. From October, 2013 to January, 2014 I held a Postdoctoral Research Fellowship at the International Institute for Holocaust Research at Yad Vashem, in Jerusalem.

In October 2014 I also held a Postdoctoral Research Fellowship 2014 EHRI (European Holocaust Research Infrastructure), The Shoah Memorial – Museum, Center for Contemporary Jewish Documentation, Paris, France.

Professor Andrea Kozáry
kozary.andrea@uni-nke.hu
My name is Andrea Kozáry and I am a Professor at the National University of Public Service, Faculty of Law Enforcement (former Police College) Dept. of Police Science Budapest. My activities include lecturing on history, sociology, political sciences, police sciences and communication, training of mediation and hate crime, preparation of auxiliary teaching materials, review of term papers and dissertations. In teaching social science subjects I must always keep in mind the special profile of the university and the expectations of its students, considering their future professional status. As the Head of the Dept. of Social Sciences at the Police College in the years 2009 – 2012, I had to have good contact and coordination with the colleagues and especially with the leadership of the University.

I was the project leader of two European Union projects between 2011-2014: ComPHEE (Commonality in Police Higher Education in Europe: Hate Crime: Fight against Crime and Crime prevention. The objective was to work out a training module for Dutch, German and Hungarian police officer students including all aspects of the issue) and COREPOL (Conflict resolution, Mediation and Restorative Justice and the Policing of Ethnic Minorities in Germany, Austria, and Hungary. The main research objective was: how to improve the relationship between minorities and police). I am an expert in training programmes, performance evaluation and stakeholder relationship management. I participated several scientific conferences, seminars, courses and exchange programmes. I was the course assistant on the CEPOL Hate Crime seminar was held in Budapest end of June and beginning of July 2015.
Professor Gilbert N. Kahn

gilbertkahn@gmail.com

Professor Gilbert N. Kahn is a professor in the Department of Political Science at Kean University in Union, New Jersey. His academic interests concentrate on American Government decision-making, with an emphasis on executive-legislative relations in foreign policy, with a special focus on the Middle East. In addition, over the past decade Dr. Kahn has addressed issues including how the Holocaust influences decision-making and decision-makers, as well as responses to contemporary anti-Semitism.

Dr. Kahn’s research has been published in a wide array of publications, both scholarly and journalistic. Some of his more recent academic publications and papers include a study of “American Guilt during the Holocaust: A Study of U.S. Foreign Policy Makers’ Attitudes toward Israel”; a monograph on “A Proposal for the Restitution and Distribution of Newly Re-Claimed European Jewish Assets”; “Our Grandparents Would Never Forgive Us: The Politics of Using and Abusing the Holocaust”; “The Political Consequences of Trivializing the Holocaust”; “Anglo Jewry’s Responses to Contemporary Anti-Semitism in Light of the Holocaust”; and “The Community Security Trust” Why is It Protecting British Jewry.” In December 2014 he delivered and participated in six sessions at the annual Limmud Conference in Great Britain. In May 2015 he was invited by the Israeli Foreign Ministry to participate in the biennial Global Forum on Antisemitism held in Jerusalem in May 2015.

Professor Kahn has extensive political consulting experience both on behalf of the Jewish community as well as in political campaigns and lobbying. He has appeared frequently as a political commentator and analyst on television and radio in the Greater New York area and, since 2005, has written a regular column for the New Jersey Jewish News. His columns also appear in the Long Island Jewish World, as well as in the Jewish Advocate, and the Chicago Star. Professor Michael E. Lane
melane@umes.edu
Lane hails from the hamlet of Cape Vincent, NY, where the mighty St. Lawrence meets Lake Ontario and where winter snow is measured in feet rather than inches. A first-generation college student who earned his BA and MA degrees from St. Lawrence U. and Binghamton U. respectively, he went on to complete his Ph.D. in French Literature at The Pennsylvania State U., with special concentrations in 19th and 20th-century poetics, women’s studies, and West African literatures of French expression. In 1998, he co-directed the international conference in 19th-Century French Studies, centered on the Dreyfus Affair and Emile Zola’s “J’Accuse…!” He began his faculty career in 2000 at Appalachian State U. in Boone, NC, where he taught a broad range of courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels in language, literature, cultural studies and foreign language methodology. A seasoned Director of multiple study abroad programs in France and a Fulbright Group Project Abroad in Senegal, Lane was recognized as 2012 Teacher of the Year by the NC American Association of Teachers of French. In 2009, he was appointed Assistant Director of the Heltzer Honors Program and then served as Associate Director as the program transitioned to collegiate status in 2010. In the Honors College, Lane was primary advisor for the Arts and Humanities, chaired the Honors Council and taught special seminars such as “Picasso’s Paris: Hispanic Expatriates in France” and “Pros(e)titution,” a study of the commodification of sex and text in French prose poetry and short fiction over the last century and a half. Since 2013, Lane is Director of the prestigious Richard A. Henson Honors Program at the U. Maryland Eastern Shore, an historically black, 1890 Land-Grant institution.

Professor Gregory J. Lobo

Professor David Pickus
David.pickus@asu.edu
My name is David Pickus. I am an associate professor of history at the RenMin University of China in Beijing. I am from Chicago and received my BA from Lawrence University in 1987 and my Ph.D. in German intellectual history from the University of Chicago in 1995. Before I moved to China I taught history at James Madison University from 1996-99 and humanities at the Barrett Honors College of Arizona State University from 1999 to 2013.

My interest in participating in the Oxford Summer Institute comes from two sources. First, I have done research on responses to anti-Semitism. I spent a Fulbright year in Belgrade, Serbia in 2006-07 and investigated a strain of “philo-Semitism” present in Serbian intellectual life. I also am interested in the ways that philosopher Walter Kaufmann (1921-80) distanced intellectual figures like Nietzsche from anti-Semitism, while showing how prejudiced attitudes could color intellectual movements as a whole.

At the same time, I also have a more immediate interest in how to teach topics involving Jews and anti-Semitism to Asian students. Presently, mostly all my students are Chinese, and I have some ongoing academic projects in Vietnam and Indonesia. How to explain anti-Semitism to students, while enabling them to debate the wider historical and social issues in a responsible manner? I am hoping to develop new ideas and methods this summer. I’m very grateful to have this opportunity and look forward to meeting you all.
Professor Sharon Portnoff

St Antony’s College, Oxford

Dear Guest

Welcome to St. Antony’s College, we are delighted to be accommodating you during your visit to Oxford. Here is some information to help make your stay more enjoyable:

Contact Information:
St Antony’s College
62 Woodstock Road
Oxford
OX2 6JF

Useful telephone numbers
- Lodge: 01865 284700
- Accommodation & Conference Office: 01865 284718

General Information

Accommodation
Guests will be accommodated in bedrooms which have private bathroom (shower, hand basin and WC) facilities or single rooms with shared bathroom facilities. Rooms are serviced Monday to Friday and are provided with bed linen, soap and towels. As part of our commitment to environmental issues, bed linen is normally changed every seven days and towels changed every 2 – 3 days. There are tea and coffee making facilities in the shared kitchens of all rooms. Please inform the Lodge if you require additional pillows and blankets.

You are requested NOT to put sanitary products in the room bins, for hygiene and safety reasons. There are sanitary bins located in all toilets.

Checking out
Please vacate your room by 9 a.m. on your day of departure and return your key/swipe card to the OSC site office.

Laundry Facilities
These are located in the basement of 64 Woodstock Road, the entrance being opposite the Hilda Besse Building. The machines are operated by cards which are available from the Site Office. Laundry cards are provided by the ISGAP Team at the start of your programme.

Internet
Wi-Fi access is available in areas around the college. Internet codes that will give you access to the network will be given to you by the ISGAP Team.

Electrical Equipment
The electricity in the UK is 230/240 volts AC; sockets take square three-pin plugs. Transformers as well as adaptors may, therefore, be needed for hair styling appliances, etc. In our experience some appliances manufactured for use abroad do not perform well here, even with a converter and adaptor.

Personal electrical equipment must conform to UK standards as follows: every appliance must carry the appropriate kite mark; the plug must be of the safety sleeve type and be correctly fused for the appliance; flexible cables must be in good condition and not worn, split, stretched or twisted.

Smoking Policy
The College has a strict NO SMOKING policy in all areas, including within bedrooms.
College Buildings and Grounds
You are welcome to enjoy the College gardens and the Buttery at all times (when there are no private events). While you are welcome to use the College’s facilities, please be aware there is no exclusive use, and the College is a still a space used by St Antony’s College Students, Senior Members and staff.

Security
The Porters’ Lodge is manned 24 hours a day. The Duty Porter should be contacted immediately in case of any security problems on 01865 284700.

At certain times during the day, members of the public are allowed access to the College grounds. Although they are not allowed access to accommodation areas, IT IS ESSENTIAL that rooms are kept locked at all times and windows properly secured when residents are absent, and care must be taken that money and articles of value – such as laptops, iPods, mobile phones and cameras – are not left casually in residents’ rooms, seminar rooms, or elsewhere.

The College is unable to accept responsibility for the loss or damage of personal property brought on to its premises.

There is a charge for lost keys: £25.00 for lost bedroom keys and £10.00 for lost access cards

In any emergency please contact the Lodge 01865 284700.
If for any reason this is not possible, please note that number for the emergency services, Fire, Police and Ambulance, is 999.

Fire Procedures
In the event of the activation of a fire alarm residents should exit the buildings as quickly as possible and follow the fire exit route which is identified, to the fire assembly points which are identified around College.

IN THE EVENT OF ANY INCIDENT PLEASE INFORM THE PORTERS’ LODGE IMMEDIATELY

Health and Safety
Under English Law, participants have a statutory duty to take responsible care for their own health and safety and for that of others who may be affected by their actions. Please report any unsafe practices observed in College to the Lodge.

Maintenance
Please report any Maintenance issues to the Lodge in the first instance.

Taxis
