

ISGAP

THE INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF GLOBAL ANTISEMITISM & POLICY

ISGAP-CAMBRIDGE
SUMMER INSTITUTE
FOR CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT
IN CRITICAL CONTEMPORARY
ANTISEMITISM STUDIES

WELCOME PACKET

JULY 26 – AUGUST 7, 2026
CHURCHILL COLLEGE
UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

July 26, 2026

Chair

Natan Sharansky

Founding Honorary President

Professor Elie Wiesel z"l

Executive Director

Dr. Charles Asher Small

Executive Vice Chair

David Harris

Vice President for Strategy and Development;
Managing Director

Brigadier General (Res.)

Sima Vaknin-Gill

Vice President of Policy

Haras Rafiq

Faculty Members

Prof. David Patterson

Prof. Joël Kotek

Dr. Benjamin Chavis

Prof. Cary Nelson

Academic Steering Committee

Prof. Sylvia Barack Fishman

Prof. Brahm Canzer

Prof. Raphael Cohen-
Almagor

Prof. Amy Elman

Prof. Miriam Elman

Prof. Marlene Grossman

Prof. Dyanne K. Martin

Prof. Cary Nelson

Dr. Chloe Pinto

Dr. Lev Topor

Board of Advisors

Natan Sharansky, Chair

Prof. Brahm Canzer

Rabbi Abe Cooper

Matthew Grossman

Malcolm Hoenlein

Gregg M. Mashberg

Prof. Cary Nelson

Jesse Friedlander

Board of Directors

Barry Cohen, Chair

Abraham H. Foxman z"l

Gregg M. Mashberg

Dr. Robert Satloff

Dr. Charles Asher Small

Dear Scholars-in-Residence, Wiesel-King Scholars, and Colleagues,

On behalf of the ISGAP Team, it is a great pleasure to welcome to the 12th Annual ISGAP-Oxbridge Summer Institute for Curriculum Development in Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies at Churchill College, University of Cambridge. We are delighted to be able to host you at this inaugural Summer Institute in Cambridge, where ISGAP established a research entity at the Woolf Institute five years ago and is now expanding its scholarly work within the university.

Given your commitment to scholarship and to mapping, decoding, examining, and combating antisemitism, I am certain that you will add much to the ISGAP-Cambridge Summer Institute and be enriched by it. The success of the Summer Institute is dependent on the contributions and perspectives that you all bring to this timely gathering.

In the aftermath of the October 7 pogrom, the worst massacre and torture of Jewish people since the Shoah, and the subsequent explosion of antisemitism, especially within higher education, the ISGAP-Cambridge Summer Institute seeks to make inroads into academia by creating a "space" for the study of critical contemporary antisemitism as a new academic discipline. In effect, we are beginning to break the taboo and the silence surrounding this issue. We must turn the tide of antisemitism that is being normalized, not only on the campuses of our universities but, more importantly, within our classrooms and curriculum.

The demonization of Judaism, Israel, and Zionism in the academic discourse at our best universities is not a parochial problem for the Jewish people but an assault on basic democratic principles, values, and practice. As Professor Elie Wiesel always taught, antisemitism may begin with the Jewish people, but it never ends with the Jewish people. Once this form of hate is unleashed, it knows no boundaries, attacking other groups as well as our democratic institutions. We are also witnessing a rise in racism, xenophobia, sexism, homophobia, and other forms of hate.

Through our groundbreaking Summer Institute, we continue to develop formal and informal networks of scholars committed to goal of fighting antisemitism on the battlefield of ideas. We are dedicated to ensuring that more professors teach courses in critical contemporary antisemitism studies and that students engage with this subject matter and join our efforts.

Given these tumultuous times and the explosion of antisemitism globally—and especially within democratic societies, academic institutions, and the halls of power—our work and this gathering are more vital than ever.

During the seminars and meetings, your engagement and efforts are always welcome. In fact, the ISGAP Team hopes that you will ultimately become ambassadors for the much-needed study of contemporary antisemitism and the development of creative methods to combat it.

I wish you much success and inspiration in Cambridge!

Best wishes,

Dr. Charles Asher Small (D.Phil. Oxon)

Executive Director, ISGAP

Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme
on Critical Antisemitism Studies, Discrimination and Human Rights
Research Fellow, St Edmund's College, University of Cambridge

ISGAP-CAMBRIDGE SUMMER INSTITUTE
FOR CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT IN CRITICAL
CONTEMPORARY ANTISEMITISM STUDIES

July 26 – August 7, 2026
Møller Institute, Churchill College, University of Cambridge
Study Centre, Suite 2

SUNDAY, JULY 26, 2026

3:00 – 3:45 PM	Registration – Tower Lodge
3:45 – 5:00 PM	Dr. Charles Asher Small , Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge “Welcoming Remarks,” followed by Participant Introductions
5:00 – 5:10 PM	Dr. Miriam Wagner , Executive Director, Woolf Institute, Cambridge “Welcoming Remarks”
5:10 – 5:40 PM	Natan Sharansky , Chair, ISGAP “The 3 Ds of Antisemitism: Demonization, Delegitimization, Double Standards”
5:40 – 5:55 PM	David Harris , Executive Vice Chair, ISGAP “The Middle East post-October 7: A Current Assessment”
5:55 – 6:10 PM	Dr. Amos Nadan , Director, Moshe Dayan Center, Tel Aviv University “Closed Eyes and Open Sources: Antisemitism and the October 7 War”
6:10 – 6:40 PM	Dr. Charles Asher Small , Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP “The Importance of Creating Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies”
6:40 – 7:00 PM	Q&A
7:00 – 8:30 PM	Opening Night – Wine, Cheese, Light Refreshments

MONDAY, JULY 27, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Dr. Charles Asher Small , Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge “Globalization and the War Against the Jewish People”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer

11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	David Harris , Executive Vice Chair, ISGAP “Antisemitism and a Failure of Imagination”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Prof. Joël Kotek , ISGAP Faculty Member; Professor of Political Science, Free University of Brussels (ULB); Institut Jonathas, Brussels “History and Psychoanalysis of Antisemitism”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Dr. Benjamin F. Chavis Jr. , ISGAP Faculty Member; Professor of Divinity and Interdisciplinary Studies at Duke University; President and CEO, National Newspaper Publishers Association, Washington, DC “The Future of University Curriculum Development in Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies: The Opportunities and Challenges to Enhance Global Academic Consortium Activations and the Need to Strengthen Global Alliances in Opposition to Antisemitism from the Perspective of Black-Jewish Solidarity”
6:00 – 6:45 PM	Dinner Break – Tower Lodge
6:45 – 8:45 PM	Film Viewing “24 Days: The True Story of the Ilan Halimi Affair” Directed by Alexandre Arcady
8:45 – 9:30 PM	Film Debrief

TUESDAY, JULY 28, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Prof. David Patterson , ISGAP Faculty Member; Hillel Feinberg Distinguished Chair in Holocaust Studies, Ackerman Center for Holocaust Studies, University of Texas at Dallas “Redemptive Antisemitism After Ten/Seven”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Haras Rafiq , Vice President of Policy, ISGAP “Islamism Beyond Islamists”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Yehudah Barlev , Leader of FTM Forensic Accounting Team, ISGAP; CEO and Founder, Barlev Associates, Accountants, Tel Aviv “Soft Power and Buying Influence in Higher Education”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:10 PM	Prof. Uzi Rabi , Senior Researcher and Head, Regional Cooperation, Moshe Dayan Center for Middle Eastern and African Studies, Tel Aviv University “From October 7 to Regional War”
6:15 – 7:00 PM	Breakout Session

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Prof. David Hirsh , Founder, LCSCA; Senior Lecturer in Sociology, Goldsmiths College, London “Understanding Antizionist Antisemitism”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Prof. Uzi Rabi , Senior Researcher and Head, Regional Cooperation, Moshe Dayan Center for Middle Eastern and African Studies, Tel Aviv University “The Day After: Israel and the Middle East”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Jonathan Spyer , Jerusalem Institute for Strategy and Security “Iran, Israel, and Antisemitism”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Yehudah Barlev , Leader of FTM Forensic Accounting Team, ISGAP; CEO and Founder, Barlev Associates, Accountants, Tel Aviv “The Financial Sources of the Muslim Brotherhood”
6:00 – 6:15 PM	Break
6:15 – 7:00 PM	Breakout Session
8:00 – 9:00 PM	Dr. Louis Schubert , Professor of Political Science, City College of San Francisco; Research Associate, University of California Berkeley “Applying Antisemitism Research to Improving Policy Efforts: Clearly Identifying Friends, Allies, and Foes” (Optional)

THURSDAY, JULY 30, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Prof. Yossi Shain , Romulo Betancourt Professor of Political Science, Tel Aviv University “Did Liberalism Betray the Jews, or Did the Jews Betray Liberalism?”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Jonathan Spyer , Jerusalem Institute for Strategy and Security “Forever War? A Strategic Overview of the Middle East in Mid 2026”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Rick Sopher , CEO, Edmond de Rothschild Capital Holdings, London “What Does the Quran Really Say about Jews, Judaism, and the Bible?” – Moderated by Dr. Miriam Wagner
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer

4:30 – 6:00 PM	Giulietta Boukhobza , Author, New York “The Forgotten Refugees of the Arab-Israeli Conflict: The Story of a Jew from Libya” – Moderated by David Harris
6:00 – 6:15 PM	Break
6:15 – 7:00 PM	Breakout Session

FRIDAY, JULY 31, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Dr. Charlotte Littlewood , Researcher, ISGAP; Director of Research & Media, Institute for the Impact of Faith in Life, UK “Embedding Islamism: The Muslim Brotherhood and Jamaat-e-Islami in the UK – A Strategic Assessment”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Prof. Yossi Shain , Romulo Betancourt Professor of Political Science, Tel Aviv University “Shifting Boundaries: Liberalism and the Jewish Political Divide”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Dr. Kara Jesella , Scholar and Author, New York “Me Too, Unless You Are a Jew: Feminism Justifies October 7”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Dr. Andrew Pessin , Research Fellow, ISGAP; Professor of Philosophy, Connecticut College, US; Campus Bureau Editor, The Algemeiner “The Origin, Evolution, and Contemporary Manifestations of Antizionism”

SATURDAY, AUGUST 1, 2026 – FREE DAY

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
----------------	--------------------------------

SUNDAY, AUGUST 2, 2026 – FREE DAY

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
----------------	--------------------------------

MONDAY, AUGUST 3, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Dr. Charles Asher Small , Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge “Neoliberalism and Higher Education: The Privatization of Hate”

11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Shai Davidai , Author and Activist; Former Assistant Professor of Business, Columbia University, New York “How to Fight an Ideological War: Why Antisemitism Must Be Treated as an Ideology, Not a Prejudice”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Prof. Rona Kaufman , Associate Professor of Law, Duquesne University “Legal Conceptualizations of Antisemitism in Comparative Perspective”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Eran Benedek , Senior Research Analyst, Community Security Trust, London “Lecture and Q&A on the work of the Community Security Trust”
6:00 – 6:15 PM	Break
6:15 – 7:00 PM	Breakout Session
8:00 – 9:00 PM	Tali Smus , President, Students Supporting Israel, King's College London “Antisemitism in Reality: Campus Edition” (Optional)

TUESDAY, AUGUST 4, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Prof. Dan Michman , Senior Research Fellow, ISGAP; Professor Emeritus of Modern Jewish History, Bar-Ilan University “Anti-semit-ism’: What’s in a Term?”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Prof. David Patterson , ISGAP Faculty Member; Hillel Feinberg Distinguished Chair in Holocaust Studies, Ackerman Center for Holocaust Studies, University of Texas at Dallas “The History and Essence of Antisemitism”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Dr. Batsheva Neuer , ISGAP-INSS Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Tel Aviv University “Jewish Sovereignty and the Languages of Universalism: ‘Zionism Is Racism’ from the UN to Durban and Beyond”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Dr. Lev Topor , Research Fellow, ISGAP; Member of Israeli Delegation to IHRA; Co-Founder and Chief Strategy Officer, Jungle Labs “Artificially Amplified: Challenges and Complexities of Dealing with AI-Enhanced Antisemitism Online”

6:00 – 6:15 PM	Break
6:15 – 7:00 PM	Breakout Session
8:00 – 9:00 PM	Prof. Rona Kaufman, Associate Professor of Law, Duquesne University Andrea J. Martin, JD, Assistant Professor of Law, Penn State Dickinson Law Naomi Leviya, Writer; Undergraduate Student “The Intersections of Antisemitism and Misogyny” (Optional)

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Dr. Florence Bergeaud-Blackler, Senior Fellow, Centre national de la recherche scientifique (CNRS); President, Centre européen de recherche et d'information sur le frérisme (CERIF) “Is the Concept of ‘Frérisme’ (Brotherism) Relevant to Understanding the Legacy of the Muslim Brotherhood in Europe?”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Haras Rafiq, Vice President of Policy, ISGAP “Strategic Entryism of the Muslim Brotherhood in the US”
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 3:30 PM	Dr. Lawrence (Lazerwolf) Amsel, Senior Research Fellow, ISGAP; Professor of Psychiatry, Columbia University, New York “How the Academic Form of Battlefield Asymmetric Warfare is Used to Normalize Antisemitism/Anti-Zionism on Campus”
3:30 – 4:00 PM	Lesley Klaff, Editor-in-Chief, Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism; Director of Academic Engagement, ISGAP Daniel Allington, Deputy Editor, Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism; Reader in Social Analytics, King's College London; Senior Associate Fellow, Counter Extremism Group “History and Role of the Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism”
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Rabbi Yonah Bookstein, Founder, Neshama; Rabbi, Beth El Synagogue, Los Angeles “The Refusal of Guilt: Denial as a Modality of Antisemitism at Kielce”
6:00 – 6:15 PM	Break
6:15 – 7:00 PM	Breakout Session
8:00 – 9:00 PM	Bruria Michman “Nobody Knows What Is Going to Happen...”: Hiding Jewish Children during the Holocaust in Holland – The Story of One Family (Optional)

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Tower Lodge
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Dr. Charles Asher Small , Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge “Curriculum Development Workshop – Introduction”
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Curriculum Development Workshop
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Tower Lodge
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Curriculum Development Workshop
4:00 – 4:30 PM	Tea Break – Foyer
4:30 – 6:00 PM	Curriculum Development Workshop
7:30 – 9:30 PM	Farewell Event – Wine and Cheese

FRIDAY, AUGUST 7, 2026

8:00 AM	Breakfast – Dining Hall
9:30 – 11:00 AM	Presentation of Syllabi and Projects
11:00 – 11:30 AM	Tea Break – Foyer
11:30 AM – 1:00 PM	Presentation of Syllabi and Projects
1:00 – 2:30 PM	Lunch Break – Dining Hall
2:30 – 4:00 PM	Presentation of Syllabi and Projects
4:00 PM	Concluding Remarks and Conferral of Certificates Dr. Charles Asher Small , Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge

RECOMMENDED READINGS FOR THE ISGAP-CAMBRIDGE SUMMER
INSTITUTE FOR CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT IN CRITICAL
CONTEMPORARY ANTISEMITISM STUDIES

Subject One: Global Antisemitism

1. Small, Charles A. Global Antisemitism: A Crisis of Modernity. New York: ISGAP, 2014.
2. Wistrich, Robert S. Antisemitism: The Longest Hatred. London: Schocken, 1991.
3. Haziza, David. "David Nirenberg: Anti-Judaism Is a Means of Thinking the World." K., September 15, 2022.

Subject Two: From Nazi to Islamic and Arab Antisemitism

1. Wistrich, Robert S. A Lethal Obsession: Antisemitism from Antiquity to Global Jihad. New York: Random House, 2010.
2. Herf, Jeffrey. Nazi Propaganda for the Arab World. Hartford: Yale University Press, 2010.
3. Küntzel, Matthias. Jihad and Jew-Hatred: Islamism, Nazism, and the Roots of 9/11. New York: Telos Press, 2007.
4. Dalin, David G., and John F. Rothman. Icon of Evil: Hitler's Mufti and the Rise of Radical Islam. New York: Random House, 2008.

Subject Three: The Left, Israel and Anti-Zionism

1. Wistrich, Robert S. From Ambivalence to Betrayal: The Left, the Jews, and Israel. Lincoln: University of Nebraska Press, 2012.
2. Wistrich, Robert S. "Judeophobia and Marxism." Commentary (December 2014).
3. Vaksberg, Arkada. Stalin Against the Jews. New York: Knopf, 1994.
4. Deutscher, Isaac. The Non-Jewish Jew and Other Essays. London: Verso, 1958.

Subject Four: Post-2000 – The "New" Antisemitism in Europe

1. Nirenberg, David. Anti-Judaism: The Western Tradition. New York: W.W. Norton, 2013.
2. Taguieff, Pierre-André. Rising from the Muck: The New Antisemitism in Europe. Chicago: Ivan R. Dee, 2004.
3. Shepherd, Robin. A State Beyond the Pale: Europe's Problem with Israel. London: Orion Publishing, 2009.

SYLLABUS 2026

Sunday, July 26, 2026

Dr. Charles Asher Small, Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies, Cambridge; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge

“The Importance of Creating Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies”

Recommended Readings (Small):

1. Small, Charles Asher. Global Antisemitism: A Crisis of Modernity. New York: ISGAP, 2014.
2. Wistrich, Robert S. Antisemitism: The Longest Hatred. London: Schocken, 1991.
3. Wistrich, Robert S. A Lethal Obsession: Anti-Semitism from Antiquity to the Global Jihad. New York: Random House, 2010.
4. Nirenberg, David. Anti-Judaism: The Western Tradition. New York: W.W. Norton, 2013.
5. Castells, Manuel. The Rise of the Network Society. Oxford: Blackwell Publishers, 1996.
6. Castells, Manuel. The Power of Identity. Oxford: Blackwell Publishers, 1997.
7. McGrew, Tony, Stuart Hall, and David Held, eds., Modernity and Its Futures. London: Polity Press, 1992.
8. Harvey, David. The Condition of Postmodernity. Oxford: Blackwell Publishers, 1989.
9. Oncu, Ayse, and Petra Weyland. Space, Culture and Power: New Identities in Globalising Cities. London: Zed Press, 1997.
10. Small, Charles Asher, et al. National Students for Justice in Palestine \(NSJP\), Antisemitism, Anti-Americanism, Violent Extremism and the Threat to North American Universities. New York: ISGAP, 2024.
11. Follow the Money: Qatar and the Muslim Brotherhood Funding of Higher Education in the United States. New York: ISGAP, 2019–present.

Monday, July 27, 2026

Dr. Charles Asher Small, Founder and Executive Director, ISGAP; Director, ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme on Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies, Cambridge; Researcher, St Edmunds College, University of Cambridge

“Globalization and the War Against the Jewish People”

David Harris, Executive Vice Chair, ISGAP

“Antisemitism and a Failure of Imagination”

Recommended Readings (Harris):

1. Harris, David. Antisemitism: What Everyone Needs to Know. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2025.

Prof. Joël Kotek, ISGAP Faculty Member; Professor of Political Science, Free University of Brussels (ULB); Institut Jonathas, Brussels

“History and Psychoanalysis of Antisemitism”

Recommended Readings (Kotek):

1. Hirsh, David. The Rebirth of Antisemitism in the 21st Century: From the Academic Boycott Campaign into the Mainstream. London: Routledge, 2024.
2. Kotek, Joël. Cartoons and Extremism: Israel and the Jews in Arab and Western Media. New York: Vallentine Mitchell, 2008.
3. Gerstenfeld, Manfred. “Manfred Gerstenfeld on Cartoons and Extremism: Israel and the Jews in Arab and Western Media, by Joël Kotek.” Jewish Political Studies Review (2009).

4. Nelson, Cary. Hate Speech and Academic Freedom: The Antisemitic Assault on Basic Principles. Boston: Academic Studies Press, 2024.
5. Nelson, Cary, and Gabriel Brahm. The Case Against Academic Boycotts of Israel. MLA Members for Scholar's Rights, 2015.
6. Patterson, David. A Genealogy of Evil: Anti-Semitism from Nazism to Islamic Jihad. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2010.

Dr. Benjamin Chavis, ISGAP Faculty Member; President and CEO, National Newspaper Publishers Association, Washington, DC

"The Future of University Curriculum Development in Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies: The Opportunities and Challenges to Enhance Global Academic Consortium Activations and the Need to Strengthen Global Alliances in Opposition to Antisemitism from the Perspective of Black-Jewish Solidarity"

Recommended Readings (Chavis):

1. Waldman-Levi, Amiya, et al. "Jewish Students' Experiences of Antisemitism in Higher Education Settings and Daily Occupations." Occupational Therapy Journal of Research 46, no. 3 (2026).
2. Santus, Daniella, and Cristina Bettin. "Antisemitism In The Algorithmic Age: Propaganda, Disinformation, and Generative AI." Z Religion Ges Polit (2025).
3. Hirschhorn, Sara Yael. "Israel in the Black-American Imagination From 1967 to 7 October 2023." ISCA Research Paper (2025-5).

Tuesday, July 28, 2026

Prof. David Patterson, ISGAP Faculty Member; Hillel Feinberg Distinguished Chair in Holocaust Studies, Ackerman Center for Holocaust Studies, University of Texas at Dallas

"Redemptive Antisemitism after Ten/Seven"

Recommended Readings (Patterson):

1. Patterson, David. Antisemitism Morally Required in the Wake of Ten/Seven. Boston: Academic Studies Press, 2026.

Haras Rafiq, Vice President of Policy, ISGAP

"Islamism Beyond Islamists"

Recommended Readings (Rafiq):

1. Jenkins, John, Martyn Frampton, and Tom Wilson. Understanding Islamism. London: Policy Exchange, 2020.
2. Hasan, Usama. From Dhimmitude to Democracy: Islamic Law, Non-Muslims & Equal Citizenship. London: Quilliam, 2015.
3. Rafiq, Haras, and Nikita Malik. Caliphettes: Women and the Appeal of Islamic State. London: Quilliam, 2015.
4. Fraser-Rahim, Muhammad, and Adrian Taylor. Transforming the Hate that Hate Produced: An Analysis of the History and Counter-Radicalization Efforts of the Community of Imam WD Muhammad. London: Quilliam, 2018.
5. Al-Ansari, Salah, and Usama Hasan. Tackling Terror: A Response to Takfiri Terrorist Theology. London: Quilliam, 2018.

Yehudah Barlev, Leader of FTM Forensic Accounting Team, ISGAP; CEO and Founder, Barlev Associates, Accountants Investigative Auditing, Tel Aviv

"Soft Power and Buying Influence in Higher Education"

Recommended Readings (Barlev):

1. Networks of Hate: Qatari Paymasters, Soft Power, and the Manipulation of Democracy. New York: ISGAP, 2023.
2. Cornell University's Ten Billion Dollar Sale: Soft Power, Qatar, the Muslim Brotherhood and an Antisemitism Crisis on Campus. New York: ISGAP, 2024.
3. Hijacking Higher Education: Qatar, the Muslim Brotherhood, and Texas A&M: Buying Nuclear Research and Student Information, Vol. 2. New York: ISGAP, 2024.
4. The Corruption of the American Mind: How Foreign Funding of Higher Education in the United States Predicts the Erosion of Democratic Values and Antisemitic Sentiment on Campus, Vol. 2. New York: ISGAP, 2024.

Prof. Uzi Rabi, Senior Researcher and Head, Regional Cooperation, Moshe Dayan Center for Middle Eastern and African Studies, Tel Aviv University

"From the 7 of October to a Regional War"

Recommended Readings (Rabi):

1. Vick, Karl. "A New Middle East Is Unfolding Before Our Eyes." Time, June 22, 2025.
2. Khoury, Nabeel A. "A Trump-Netanyahu New Middle East?" Arab Center Washington, DC, July 9, 2025.
3. Hussein, Mohamed A. "Mapping Israel's Expanding Battlefronts across the Middle East." Al Jazeera, June 25, 2025.
4. "Briefing: Israel's War with Iran is Over." The Economist, June 26, 2025.
5. Rabi, Uzi, and Brandon Friedman. "Weaponizing Sectarianism in Iraq and Syria." Foreign Policy Research Institute, 2017.

Wednesday, July 29, 2026

Prof. David Hirsh, Founder, LCSCA; Senior Lecturer in Sociology, Goldsmiths College, London

"Understanding Antizionist Antisemitism"

Recommended Readings (Hirsh):

1. Hirsh, David. "Hostility to Israel and Antisemitism: Toward a Sociological Approach." Journal for the Study of Antisemitism 5 (2013): 1401–1419.
2. Hirsh, David. How the Word 'Zionist' Functions in Antisemitic Vocabulary." Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism 4, no. 2 (January 12, 2022).
3. Hirsh, David. How Raising the Issue of Antisemitism Puts You Outside the Community of the Progressive: The Livingstone Formulation." Engage (2016).
4. Hirsh, David, and Hilary Miller. "Durban Antizionism: Its Sources, Its Impact, and Its Relation to Older Anti-Jewish Ideologies." Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism 5, no. 1 (August 11, 2022).
5. Ellman, Louis, David Hirsh, and Izabella Tabarovsky. Antisemitic Anti-Zionism: The Origins and Character of an Ideology. Labour Friends of Israel, 2022.

Prof. Uzi Rabi, Senior Researcher and Head, Regional Cooperation, Moshe Dayan Center for Middle Eastern and African Studies, Tel Aviv University

"The Day After: Israel and the Middle East"

Recommended Readings (Rabi):

1. Vick, Karl. "A New Middle East Is Unfolding Before Our Eyes." Time, June 22, 2025.
2. Khoury, Nabeel A. "A Trump-Netanyahu New Middle East?" Arab Center Washington, DC, July 9, 2025.
3. Hussein, Mohamed A. "Mapping Israel's Expanding Battlefronts Across the Middle East." Al Jazeera, June 25, 2025.

4. “Briefing: Israel’s War with Iran is Over.” The Economist, June 26, 2025.
5. Rabi, Uzi and Brandon Friedman. “Weaponizing Sectarianism in Iraq and Syria.” Foreign Policy Research Institute, 2017.

Jonathan Spyer, Jerusalem Institute for Strategy and Security
“Iran, Israel, and Antisemitism”

Recommended Readings (Spyer):

1. Mansharoff, Yossi. “Behind Iran’s Desire to Destroy Israel.” Middle East Quarterly (Summer 2026).
2. Rezaï, Farhad, and Ofira Selikta. “Iran’s Islamist Antisemitism and Anti-Zionism: Jews as Source of All Evil \(Part One\).” Middle East Quarterly (Summer 2026).

Yehudah Barlev, Leader of FTM Forensic Accounting Team, ISGAP; CEO and Founder, Barlev Associates, Accountants Investigative Auditing, Tel Aviv
“The Financial Sources of the Muslim Brotherhood”

Recommended Readings (Barlev):

1. The Muslim Brotherhood’s Strategic Entryism into the United States: A Systematic Analysis. New York: ISGAP, 2026.
2. Comprehensive Update on Terrorist Financing Risks. Financial Action Task Force (2025).

Thursday, July 30, 2026

Prof. Yossi Shain, Romulo Betancourt Professor of Political Science, Tel Aviv University
“Did Liberalism Betray the Jews, or Did the Jews Betray Liberalism?”

Recommended Readings (Shain):

1. Goldman, Daniel. “Why British Jewry Isn’t ‘Drifting Away’ from Israel.” Tikvahi, July 14, 2016.
2. Wisse, Ruth. If I Am Not for Myself: The Liberal Betrayal of the Jews. New York: Free Press, 1992.
3. “Jewish Ethics vs. State Ethics” in Yossi Shain, The Israeli Century: How the Zionist Revolution Changed History and Reinvented Judaism. Brentwood: Wicked Son, 2021, pp. 402–433.

Jonathan Spyer, Jerusalem Institute for Strategy and Security
“Forever War? A Strategic Overview of the Middle East in Mid-2026”

Recommended Readings (Spyer):

1. Mansharoff, Yossi. “Behind Iran’s Desire to Destroy Israel.” Middle East Quarterly (Summer 2026).
2. Rezaï, Farhad, and Ofira Selikta. “Iran’s Islamist Antisemitism and Anti-Zionism: Jews as Source of All Evil \(Part One\).” Middle East Quarterly (Summer 2026).

Rick Sopher, CEO, Edmond de Rothschild Capital Holdings, London
“What Does the Quran Really Say About Jews, Judaism, and the Bible?” – Moderated by Dr. Miriam Wagner

Recommended Readings (Sopher):

1. Firestone, Reuven. An Introduction to Islam for Jews. Melrose Park: Jewish Publication Society, 2008.

Friday, July 31, 2026

Charlotte Littlewood, Researcher, ISGAP; Director of Research & Media, Institute for the Impact of Faith in Life, UK

“Embedding Islamism: The Muslim Brotherhood and Jamaat-e-Islami in the UK—A Strategic Assessment”

Recommended Readings (Littlewood):

1. House of Commons. Muslim Brotherhood Review: Main Findings. London, 2015.
2. Vidino, Lorenzo. The Muslim Brotherhood in the United Kingdom. Washington, DC: George Washington University Program on Extremism, 2015.
3. Wickham, Carrie. The Muslim Brotherhood: Evolution of an Islamist Movement. Princeton: Princeton University Press, 2015.
4. Littlewood, Charlotte. “Islamist Organisations in the United Kingdom: From the Rushdie Affair to Present Day.” Henry Jackson Society, 2022.
5. Littlewood, Charlotte. “Identity Denied: Minority-Within-Minority Discrimination and the Contradictions of British Multiculturalism.” PhD diss., University of Exeter, 2025.

Prof. Yossi Shain, Romulo Betancourt Professor of Political Science, Tel Aviv University
“Shifting Boundaries: Liberalism and the Jewish Political Divide”

Recommended Readings (Shain):

1. “Jewish Ethics vs. State Ethics” in Yossi Shain, The Israeli Century: How the Zionist Revolution Changed History and Reinvented Judaism. Brentwood: Wicked Son, 2021, pp. 402--433.

Dr. Kara Jesella, Author; Fellow, London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism

“Me Too, Unless You Are a Jew: Feminism Justifies October 7”

Recommended Readings (Jesella):

1. Combahee River Collective. “The Combahee River Collective Statement,” 1977.
2. “Foreword” in Toni Cade Bambara, ed., The Black Woman. New York: New American Library, Inc., 1970.
3. Rickford, Russell, “‘To Build a New World’: Black American Internationalism and Palestine Solidarity.” Journal of Palestine Studies 48, no. 4 (2019): 52–68.
4. McIntosh, Peggy. “Unpacking the Invisible Knapsack.” Peace and Freedom Magazine (1989): 10–12.
5. Anna Krauthamer. “Why I Didn’t Report My Rape.” The Nation, January 24, 2026.

Dr. Andrew Pessin, Research Fellow, ISGAP; Professor of Philosophy, Connecticut College
“The Origin, Evolution, and Contemporary Manifestations of Antizionism”

Recommended Readings (Pessin):

1. “Re-presenting Zionism as the Apex of Global Conspiracy” in Michael Berkowitz, The Crime of My Very Existence: Nazism and the Myth of Jewish Criminality. Berkeley: University of California Press, 2007.
2. “Antisemitism for Popular Consumption: Selections from the Protocols of the Elders of Zion” in Stephen Eric Bronner, A Rumor About the Jews: Conspiracy, Anti-Semitism, and the Protocols of Zion. New York: Palgrave/St. Martin’s Press, 2000.
3. Fischer, Lars. “The Nazi Invention of Anti-Imperialist Antizionism.” The Tel Aviv Review of Books (Winter 2024).
4. Paresky, Pamela. “Critical Race Theory and the ‘Hyper-White’ Jew.” Sapir, May 6, 2021.

5. Spoerl, Joseph S. "Parallels between Nazi and Islamist Anti-Semitism." Jewish Political Studies Review 31, no. 1/2 (2020).
6. Linfield, Susie. "The Return of the Progressive Atrocity." Quillette, November 18, 2023.
7. "Swastika, Crescent and Star of David" and "Militant Islam and Arab Nationalism" in Robert S. Wistrich, Hitler's Apocalypse: Jews and the Nazi Legacy. New York: St. Martin's Press, 1985.

Monday, August 3, 2026

Prof. Rona Kaufman, Associate Professor of Law, Duquesne University
"Legal Conceptualizations of Antisemitism in Comparative Perspective"

Recommended Readings (Kaufman):

1. Office of the Special Envoy for Preserving Holocaust Remembrance and Combatting Antisemitism. Canadian Handbook on the IHRA Working Definition of Antisemitism. 2025.
2. European Commission. Legal Framework on Antisemitism. n.d.
3. Kaufman, Rona. "Never Again: Zionism and the Jewess." FIU Law Review 19, no. 3 (June 2025): 737–770.
4. Kaufman, Rona. "The Court Is Wrong: Antizionism Is Discrimination Against Jews." The Blogs, Times of Israel, December 9, 2025.
5. Matthew Segal. "The Anti-Zionism Exception." Tablet, February 3, 2026.

Shai Davidai, Author and Activist; Former Associate Professor of Business, Columbia University

"How to Fight an Ideological War: Why Antisemitism Must Be Treated as an Ideology, Not a Prejudice"

Recommended Readings (Davidai):

1. Davidai, Shai. "American Intellectual Antisemitism" in American Intellectual Antisemitism: The Anti-Jewish Movement Tearing Through Our Universities. Brentwood: Wicked Son, forthcoming (DO NOT SHARE).

Tuesday, August 4, 2026

Prof. Dan Michman, Senior Research Fellow, ISGAP; Professor Emeritus of Modern Jewish History, Bar-Ilan University

"Anti-semit-ism': What's in a Term?"

Recommended Readings (Michman):

1. Dan Michman. "Anti-semit-ism: When and Why was the Term Coined and Embraced? Is it Still Useful?," Antisemitism Studies 10, no. 1 (2026): 163–177. (Keynote lecture at Bar-Ilan University conference "Global Perspectives on Antisemitism", June 12, 2023. Based on the Hebrew article "Can the Term 'Antisemitism' be Used as a Characterizing or Analytical Category in Scholarly Discourse? A Reply to David Engel," Zion 85 (2020): 391–408.
2. Volkov, Shulamit. "Antisemitism as a Cultural Code: Reflections on the History and Historiography of Antisemitism in Imperial Germany." The Leo Baeck Institute Year Book 23, no. 1 (January 1978): 25–46.

Prof. David Patterson, ISGAP Faculty Member; Hillel Feinberg Distinguished Chair in Holocaust Studies, Ackerman Center for Holocaust Studies, University of Texas at Dallas
"The History and Essence of Antisemitism"

Recommended Readings (Patterson):

1. "Chapter Six: Word, Blood, Redemption and the Essence of Antisemitism" in David Patterson, Judaism, Antisemitism, and the Holocaust: Making the Connections. Cambridge University Press, 2022.
2. "Chapter Five: National Socialist Antisemitism" in David Patterson, Antisemitism and Its Metaphysical Origins. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2015.
3. David Patterson. Antisemitism Morally Required in the Wake of Ten/Seven. Newton: Academic Studies Press, 2026.
4. David Patterson. A Genealogy of Evil: Antisemitism from Nazism to Islamic Jihad. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2010.

Dr. Batsheva Neuer, ISGAP-INSS Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Tel Aviv University
"Jewish Sovereignty and the Languages of Universalism: 'Zionism Is Racism' from the UN to Durban and Beyond"

Recommended Readings (Neuer):

1. Neuer, Batsheva. "A Tale of Two Documents: How Zionism as Racism Resurfaced at the World Conference against Racism \(WCAR\)." Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism 8, no. 1 (2025): 89–108.
2. Hirsh, David, and Hilary Miller. "Durban Antizionism: Its Sources, Its Impact, and Its Relation to Older Anti-Jewish Ideologies." Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism 5, no. 1 (2022).
3. Friesel, Ofra. "Equating Zionism with Racism: The 1965 Precedent." American Jewish History 97, no. 3 (2013): 283–313.

Dr. Lev Topor, Research Fellow, ISGAP; Member of the Israeli Delegation to IHRA; Co-Founder and Chief Strategy Officer, Jungle Labs
"Artificially Amplified: Challenges and Complexities of Dealing with AI-Enhanced Antisemitism Online"

Recommended Readings (Topor):

1. De-Lima-Santos, Mathias-Felipe, and Wilson Ceron. "Coordinated Amplification, Coordinated Inauthentic Behaviour, Orchestrated Campaigns: A Systematic Literature Review of Coordinated Inauthentic Content on Online Social Networks" in Tirşe Erbayşal Filibeli and Melis Öneren Özbek, Mapping Lies in the Global Media Sphere. London: Routledge, 2023, pp. 165–184.
2. Santos, Daniela, and Cristina Bettin. "Antisemitism in the Algorithmic Age: Propaganda, Disinformation, and Generative AI." Zeitschrift für Religion, Gesellschaft und Politik (2025): 1–22.
3. Topor, Lev. "Anonymity and Anonymous Communications" and "Nazi Migration to Anonymous Platforms: The Case of Holocaust Denial," in Phishing for Nazis: Conspiracies, Anonymous Communications and White Supremacy Networks on the Dark Web. New York: Routledge, 2023.
4. Topor, Lev. "Old Hatred in New Code," in Synthetic Hate: AI-Enhanced Antisemitism and Online Radicalization. London: Routledge, 2026.

Wednesday, August 5, 2026

Dr. Florence Bergeaud-Blackler, Senior Fellow, Centre national de la recherche scientifique (CNRS); President, Centre européen de recherche et d'information sur le frérisme (CERIF)
"Is the Concept of 'Frérisme' (Brotherism) Relevant to Understanding the Legacy of the Muslim Brotherhood in Europe?"

Recommended Readings (Bergeaud-Blackler):

1. Bergeaud-Blackler, Florence. Le Djihad par le marché. Paris: Odile Jacob, 2025.
2. Bergeaud-Blackler, Florence. Le Frérisme et ses réseaux, l'enquête. Paris: Odile Jacob, 2023.
3. Report on Muslim Brotherhood Entryism. French Ministry of the Interior, 2025 (in French).

Rabbi Yonah Bookstein, Founder, Neshama; Rabbi, Beth El Synagogue, Los Angeles
"The Refusal of Guilt: Denial as a Modality of Antisemitism at Kielce"

Recommended Readings (Bookstein):

1. Grabowski, Jan. "Rewriting the History of Polish-Jewish Relations from a Nationalist Perspective." Yad Vashem Studies 36, no. 1 (2008): 253–269.
2. Cimoszewicz, Włodzimierz. "On the 50th Anniversary of the Kielce Pogrom." Address by the Prime Minister of Poland, Kielce, July 7, 1996.
3. Bielawski, Krzysztof. "The Jewish Cemetery in Kielce, 1945–1989." Studia Muzealno-Historyczne 15 (2023): 175–191.
4. Stańczyk, Ewa. "Remaking National Identity: Two Contested Monuments in Post-Communist Poland." Central Europe 11, no. 2 (2013): 127–142.
5. Tokarska-Bakir, Joanna. Pogrom Cries – Essays on Polish-Jewish History, 1939–1946. Berlin: Peter Lang, 2019.
6. Tokarska-Bakir, Joanna, and Jarosław Dulewicz. ""An Unfinished Story': Genealogy of the Kielce Pogrom Victims \(Selected Problems and New Research Possibilities\)." Scripta Judaica Cracoviensia 18 (2020): 163–188.

BREAKOUT GROUP SESSIONS

GROUP 1

Led by Prof. Dan Michman

David Alemany
Michael Berenbaum
Balazs Berkovits
Michael Easson
Max Horder
Andre Oboler
Austin Parcels
Shannon Quigley
Louis Schubert
Yitzhak Sokoloff
John Williams

GROUP 2

Led by Lesley Klaff

Daniel Allington
Elad Ben David
Rabbi Yonah Bookstein
Salomon Chiquiar-Rabinovich
Shira Fishman
Philippe Karpe
Dani Kranz
Tim Orr
April Powers
Sasha Seagull
Daniel Staetsky
Gad Yishayahu

GROUP 3

Led by Prof. Katherine Harbord

Hagit Arieli-Chai
Florence Bergeaud-Blackler
Ceren Doğan
Fran Ereira
Or Arthur Honig
Joel Klaff
Malik Muhammad Sohail
Jon Papernick
Steven Samols
Lori Sousa-Meixell
Ingrid Weinberg

GROUP 4

Led by Prof. David Patterson and Shai Davidai

Iqbal Akhtar
Sarah Blenner
Caryn Block
Hüseyin Çiçek
Carolyn Dudek
Ellen Feig
Donna Gitter
Leonard Hammer
Günther Jikeli
Adam Louis-Klein
Richard Marcus
Andrea Martin
Dyanne Martin
Jessica Roitman
Sharon Shahaf
Brenda Sheingold
Oren Baruch Stier
Meng Yang

GROUP 5

Led by Dr. Lawrence (Lazerwolf)
Amsel and Goni Wong

Nervannah Ghabra
Machelle Kabir
Madeline Levin
Naomi Leviya
Liron Matalon
Serhan Ozgul
Joshua Segal
Leah Shalonov
Tali Smus
Xuye Song
Rittika Talukder
Katherine Wyant

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Lawrence (Lazerwolf) Amsel

lamsel01@gmail.com

Dr. Lawrence Amsel, MD, MPH, is the child of Holocaust survivors, which profoundly shaped various aspects of his life journey. He pursued a career as a physician with a focused interest in psychological trauma, alongside strong political commitments and a philosophical outlook. Lawrence received a traditional Yeshiva education, largely in Yiddish, and actively engaged in political activism, particularly through involvement in the Soviet Jewry movement and student support for Israel, which has remained significant throughout his life.

The pleasures of rigorous thinking in Talmud class led him to major in mathematics during his undergraduate studies at Columbia College. Motivated by the moral content of his studies, Lawrence sought to address the emotional pain and turmoil of contemporary life. He completed medical school at Yale, trained in psychiatry and public health, and became a member of the academic faculty at Columbia University. Following 9/11, he co-directed a clinic for the survivors of that terrorist attack. In this capacity, he encountered a large number of traumatized police officers, firefighters, and EMTs, as well as other individuals. This reinforced what he knew as a child of Holocaust survivors, that the aggregated responses of a traumatized population have a very serious impact on their political attitudes and behaviors as well as their mental health.

Lawrence's areas of academic interest have been the long-term effects of psychological trauma on individuals and populations, the applications of models from behavioral economics and game theory to comprehend human behaviors, and the interface of psychiatry and the law. Going forward, Lawrence would like to merge his past scholarship with additional political and philosophical perspectives in order to better understand the sources and nature of human biases and political distortions, such as those exemplified by contemporary antisemitism and anti-Zionism.

Yehudah Barlev

yehudah@barlev.co.il

Yehudah Barlev is the Managing Partner and Founder of Barlev Associates, an accounting and investigative auditing firm. Yehudah worked for various enforcement agencies inside and outside Israel, in wide issues of investigative audits (i.e. forensic accounting, prevention, detection and quantification of corruption, fraud, money laundering, and terror finance) of white-collar offences on a national and global scale in various countries and in civil disputes. Among his substantial projects were the recovery of properties belonging to Holocaust victims in service of both the Knesset's investigation commission and the Governmental Company for Locating and Recovering Holocaust Victims' Properties. He also conducted investigations into the fraud and collapse of the Commerce Bank and handled delicate projects on economic soft power for various governments. Yehudah lectures at numerous academic institutions in Israel and international conventions, specializing in Investigative auditing issues, economic crime, corruption, money laundering, and terror financing. His diverse audience includes government officials, litigators, accountants, bankers, risk and money laundering compliance officers, and law enforcement officers. Furthermore, Yehudah is the author of the following books: The Foundations of Investigative Auditing, Par Value, and Ety, Bernie and the Fraudsters, in addition to numerous articles in the field.

Eran Benedek

Eran.B@cst.org.uk

Eran Benedek is a Senior Analyst in the Research and Analysis Hub of the UK's Community Security Trust (CST), where he focuses on antisemitism, terrorism, and extremism. He has written numerous CST research briefings and assessments on related topics, including global trends in anti-Jewish terrorism, Iranian and Hezbollah terrorist methods, and lessons learned from terrorist attacks. Eran manages CST's terrorism databases and its monthly Threat Update, a unique newsletter rounding up key developments in terrorism and extremism. His articles have been published in CTC Sentinel (West Point), the Jewish Political Studies Review, and Foreign Policy, and by the International Institute for Counter-Terrorism (ICT). Eran holds an MSc in Nationalism and Ethnicity from the London School of Economics.

Michael Berenbaum

michael@berenbaumgroup.com

Michael Berenbaum is the Director of the Sigi Ziering Institute: Exploring the Ethical and Religious Implications of the Holocaust and a Distinguished Professor of Jewish Studies at the American Jewish University. The author and editor of 24 books, he was also the Executive Editor of the Second Edition of the Encyclopaedia Judaica. He was Project Director overseeing the creation of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum and the first Director of its Research Institute and later served as President and CEO of the Survivors of the Shoah Visual History Foundation, which took the testimony of 52,000 Holocaust survivors in 32 languages and 57 countries. His work in film has won Emmy Awards and Academy Awards. He has developed and curated Museums in the United States, Mexico, North Macedonia and Poland and his award winning exhibition "Auschwitz: Not Long Ago, Not Far Away" has appeared in Madrid and Malmo, New York, Kansas City, and, most recently, at the Ronald Reagan Library in California. It will soon open in Boston.

Florence Bergeaud-Blackler

florence.blackler@gmail.com

Florence Bergeaud-Blackler holds a PhD in anthropology and is a Senior Fellow at the Centre national de la recherche scientifique (CNRS) in Paris and President of the Centre européen de recherche et d'information sur le frérisme (CERIF). As a specialist on contemporary Islam in secular societies, she coined the concept of "frérisme" (Brotherism) to analyze the diffuse ideology inherited from the Muslim Brotherhood beyond its formal structures. She is the author of Le Frérisme et ses réseaux, l'enquête (Odile Jacob, 2023) and, most recently, Le Djihad par le marché (Odile Jacob, 2025). She convenes a European research network on Islamism, advises on policy, and regularly testifies before French and European parliamentary commissions.

Rabbi Yonah Bookstein

rabbiyonah@gmail.com

Rabbi Yonah Bookstein is a scholar of Polish Jewry, a spiritual leader, and an advisor to Jewish organizations, foundations, and families. His upcoming book, Denial Is a River in Poland: The Aftermath of Europe's Last Pogrom (2026), examines how the 1946 Kielce pogrom has been remembered, interpreted, and memorialized over the last eighty years.

Rabbi Bookstein serves as the Alevy Family Rabbi in Community Outreach and is a co-founder of Neshama. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon's Robert C. Clark Honors College and Oxford University, and was a Fulbright Fellow at Jagiellonian University in Kraków. He studied rabbinics at Darche Noam in Jerusalem and received ordination from Ohr Somayach in New York.

His prior communal leadership includes serving as Director of the Ronald S. Lauder Foundation in Poland, as a Campus Rabbi, and as founder of the Pico Shul. He is the author of Prayers for Israel (2013), and his newsletter, "Rabbi Yonah's Practice," is available on Substack. Rabbi Yonah also enjoys touring Scotland and playing guitar. He lives in Los Angeles with his wife and family.

Giulietta Boukhobza

Giulietta Boukhobza was born and raised in Libya. Together with her parents and seven siblings, she fled in 1967, after deadly pogroms targeted the Jewish community. Giulietta and her family found refuge in Italy. Giulietta came to America in 1979, where she raised three children and taught Italian language and art. She and her husband, David Harris, live in New York.

Benjamin F. Chavis, Jr.

drbenjamin.chavis@gmail.com

Dr. Benjamin F. Chavis Jr. is a veteran civil rights leader, global business executive, educator, author, and theologian. He currently serves as President and CEO of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (NNPA), representing over 200 Black-owned media companies across the United States. A lifelong activist, Dr. Chavis began his career in 1963 as the North Carolina youth coordinator for the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). Wrongfully imprisoned as a member of the Wilmington Ten—declared political prisoners by Amnesty International—Dr.

Chavis earned his MDiv magna cum laude from Duke University while serving a 34-year sentence, later receiving a pardon. He holds a PhD in systematic theology from Union Theological Seminary and a DMin from Howard University.

Dr. Chavis served as Executive Director and CEO of the NAACP from 1993 to 1994, and in 1995 was the National Director of the historic Million Man March. An ordained minister in the United Church of Christ and a published author, his work spans corporate diversity, human rights, climate justice, and the intersection of civil rights and hip-hop culture. Dr. Chavis also serves as an ISGAP Faculty Member.

Shai Davidai

shaidavidai2023@gmail.com

Since October 7, 2023, Shai Davidai has emerged as a prominent voice against antisemitism and support for terrorism on North America college campuses. As the most outspoken professor on these issues, he has taken on this fight at great personal and professional risk. His activism has drawn over 250,000 followers on social media, and his podcast, “Here I Am with Shai Davidai,” reaches tens of thousands each week. He is also the creator and host of “Pragmatic Judaism,” a podcast exploring Judaism as a blueprint for Jewish continuity, peoplehood, and survival.

Davidai has testified before the US House of Representatives’ Ways and Means Committee, organized rallies, and traveled across the world to speak to Jewish and non-Jewish audiences.

He was named one of The Jerusalem Post’s 50 Most Influential Jews of 2024, honored by the Israeli Parliament, and awarded the Jerusalem Prize at the Jerusalem Conference in New York City. His work has been featured in major outlets, including The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal, CNN, and Fox News, and he has appeared in multiple documentaries.

His forthcoming book, American Intellectual Antisemitism: The Anti-Jewish Movement Tearing Through Our Universities (Wicked Son/Post Hill Press), will be published in October 2026. Davidai holds a PhD in Social Psychology from Cornell University and has taught at Princeton, The New School for Social Research, and Columbia. He lives in New York City with his wife, author and translator Yardenne Greenspan, and their two magnificent young children.

David Harris

david.harris@isgap.org

David Harris serves as the Executive Vice Chair of ISGAP. Prior to joining ISGAP, David served as CEO of the American Jewish Committee (AJC) from 1990 to 2022. The organization was described by The New York Times as “the dean of American Jewish organizations,” and by French President Nicolas Sarkozy as “the most effective, influential, and respected American Jewish organization.” Harris was referred to by the late Israeli President and Nobel Laureate Shimon Peres as “the foreign minister of the Jewish people.” He is the most decorated Jewish organizational leader in US history and is the recipient of four honorary doctorates, including most recently from Brandeis University in 2022.

Throughout the past five decades, Harris has played a pivotal role in shaping critical global issues, From the rescue of Ethiopian Jewry and Soviet Jewry (including two detentions by Soviet authorities) to helping expand Israel’s diplomatic footprint throughout the world, his contributions have been far-reaching. Harris has been committed to preserving Holocaust memory, exploring new relationships in the Arab and larger Muslim world, supporting an end to communism in Eastern Europe, advocating for NATO expansion, combating global antisemitism, and promoting interfaith dialogue and understanding. He is also the author of several books, as well as hundreds of op-eds and articles on global Jewish issues in leading media outlets around the world.

Harris received his education at the University of Pennsylvania and the London School of Economics. He also served as a Visiting Scholar at Johns Hopkins University and as a Junior and Senior Associate at Oxford University.

He is the son of two Holocaust survivors and a dedicated husband, father, and grandfather.

David Hirsh

hirshd@gmail.com

David Hirsh is Professor of Sociology at Goldsmiths College, University of London, and Academic Director of the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism. Hirsh developed his PhD thesis, a sociology of international humanitarian law, into Law against Genocide, which won the Philip Abrams Prize for the best first book in sociology in 2003. He was central in building the Engage network and website that led opposition to the proposal for an academic boycott of Israel and was a leading critic of the ideas underpinning the Corbyn movement in the British Labour Party. He has been instrumental in shaping democratic, Jewish, and scholarly responses to antisemitism. He pioneered a sociological account of contemporary antizionism and its relationship to antisemitism, which was published in his 2018 book Contemporary Left Antisemitism. He is now working to build the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism, which is creating and nurturing networks of antisemitism scholarship and the academic infrastructure that they need.

Kara Jesella

karajesella@gmail.com

Kara Jesella is a feminist scholar based in New York City and a Fellow of the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism. Her book Feminist Antisemitism: An Intellectual History, out from Routledge in June 2026, establishes the surprising antipathy towards Jews, Jewish women, and Israel that existed even as the women's movement began and tracks how changes in feminist in-groups and theories produced new, feminist-inflected forms of antisemitism and antizionism that have since been exported to the rest of the Left. She has a PhD and an MA in Performance Studies from New York University, where she was the Managing Editor of Women & Performance: A Journal of Feminist Theory, and a BA in Women's Studies and English from Vassar College. A former journalist, she has written for The New York Times, Quillette, Ms., and many other publications, and authored a cultural history of Sassy magazine that was published by Farrar, Straus and Giroux.

Rona Kaufman

kitchenr@duq.edu

Rona Kaufman is a teacher, scholar, and pro-Israel advocate. She is an Associate Professor of Law at Duquesne University where she teaches Constitutional, Employment Discrimination, Family, and Gender Law. She is developing an “Antisemitism and the Law” course. Her scholarship focuses on women, antisemitism, Jewish history, and law.

Since October 7, Professor Kaufman has emerged as a leading academic voice on Israel and antisemitism. To combat antisemitism, she partners with various organizations, including Stand With Us, Chabad on Campus, Hillel, Students Supporting Israel, NGO Monitor, the Consortium for Interreligious Dialogue, the Jewish Emancipation Project, and the Hope for Israel Alliance. Professor Kaufman was selected to be a member of Israeli President Isaac Herzog’s Voice of the People global cohort, a think-tank focused on solving contemporary challenges facing the Jewish people. She serves on the steering committee of the Annual Law vs. Antisemitism Conference, on the Advisory Board of the Brandeis Center for Human Rights’ Center for Legal Innovation, and on the Holocaust Claims Conference’s faculty working group for Holocaust education.

Professor Kaufman developed a series of Israel and Antisemitism Explainer videos which she shares with her followers on Facebook, Instagram, and LinkedIn. Her posts have received more than 2.5 million impressions across social media platforms. She is currently working on a book that explores Zionism, Israel, and antisemitism from a feminist perspective.

Joël Kotek

joel.kotek@gmail.com

Joël Kotek is a Professor at the Free University of Brussels (ULB) and the Institut d’Études Politiques de Paris. Dr. Kotek is a member of several academic committees including Revue d’Histoire de la Shoah de Paris, the Jewish Museum of Warsaw, Mechelen Holocaust Museum, Foundation Aladdin (Paris), Evens Foundation (Antwerpen) and Yahad in Unum (Paris). He was the head of the Formation Department at the Mémorial de la Shoah/Centre de documentation juive contemporaine in Paris (2003–2006) and has been, since 2003, the Belgian correspondent of the Moshe Cantor Center on Antisemitism and Racism. Dr. Kotek has authored a number of important publications, including La Shoah dans la Bande dessinée (2017), 1939, le quatrième partage de la Pologne (sld) (2015), Israël et les médias belges francophones au miroir du conflit gazaoui de l’été 2014 (2015), translated into English by ISGAP (2015), Mickey à Gurs, les cahiers de Horst Rosenthal (2014), and Dictionnaire de la Shoah (2009). Joël is also an ISGAP Senior Research Fellow.

Charlotte Littlewood

charlotte.littlewood@iifl.org.uk

Dr. Charlotte Littlewood is a specialist in Islamist extremism, antisemitism, and inter-community conflict in the United Kingdom. She is Director of Research & Media at the Institute for the Impact of Faith in Life (IIFL) and serves as lead UK researcher for the Institute for the Study of Global Antisemitism and Policy (ISGAP). She holds a PhD in Arab and Islamic Studies from the University of Exeter, where her doctoral research examined minority-within-minority persecution, with particular focus on the Ahmadiyya Muslim community in Britain.

Her career began as a Prevent practitioner and Counter-Extremism Coordinator for the London Borough of Waltham Forest. She subsequently lived in the West Bank for two years, working with Palestinian women on domestic violence and community cohesion. She has held research fellowships with the Henry Jackson Society and has consulted for Muslims Against Antisemitism.

Her research and commentary have appeared in The Times, The Telegraph, The Jewish Chronicle, and The Times of Israel, on the UK's LBC radio, and across international media. She has written reports on antisemitism in schools, anti-Hindu hate, the changing landscape of faith in Britain, and Islamist organizations in the UK. She is the author of Embedding Islamism: A Strategic Assessment and Comprehensive Mapping of the Muslim Brotherhood and Jamaat-e-Islami in the UK.

Dan Michman

Dan.Michman@biu.ac.il

Dan Michman is Professor (Emeritus) of Modern Jewish History (1976–2015) and former Chair of the Arnold and Leona Finkler Institute of Holocaust Research (1983–2018) at Bar-Ilan University. He is also the former Head of the International Institute for Holocaust Research and Incumbent of the John Najmann Chair in Holocaust Studies (2011–2026) and Chief Historian (2000–2011) at Yad Vashem. His publications, available in twelve languages, cover a broad range of topics regarding the Shoah—including its historiography, representations, and impact on Israel, world Jewry, and the Western world—and regarding modern Jewish history and antisemitism. In his studies, Michman emphasizes the aspects of conceptualization, the history of concepts, and the changing semantics of terms over time.

Professor Michman's recent publications include Holocaust Historiography: A Jewish Perspective: Conceptualizations, Terminology, Approaches and Fundamental Issues (2003); The Emergence of Jewish Ghettos During the Holocaust (2011); Adolf Hitler, the Decision-Making Process Leading to the "Final Solution of the Jewish Question," and the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem Hajj Amin al-Hussayni: The Current State of Research (2017); Getting It Right, Getting It Wrong: Recent Holocaust Scholarship in Light of the Work of Raul Hilberg, 2017 Annual Raul Hilberg Memorial Lecture, University of Vermont (2017); and Holocaust Historiography between 1990 to 2021 in Context(s): New Insights, Perceptions, Understandings and Avenues—An Overview and Analysis (2022).

Amos Nadan

nadan@tauex.tau.ac.il

Professor Amos Nadan is the Director of the Moshe Dayan Center for Middle Eastern and African Studies at Tel Aviv University and a faculty member in the Department of Middle Eastern and African History. He holds an MSc and a PhD in Economic History from the London School of Economics and Political Science, as well as a BA in Middle Eastern Studies, with intensive Arabic, from the University of Haifa. His research spans two complementary fields: the history of the modern Middle East and the application of historical knowledge to the analysis of contemporary issues. His recent publications address subjects including economic sanctions, demographic policy, Arab journalistic discourse, and the history of peasants in the Middle East.

Batsheva Neuer

batsheva.neuer@mail.huji.ac.il

Batsheva Neuer is a fellow at the Avraham Harman Research Institute of Contemporary Jewry at the Hebrew University and an ISGAP-INSS Research Fellow. She was awarded the 2024 Bernard Lewis Prize for her dissertation, Israel and the Question of Racism and Related Intolerance: The Road to the World Conference at Durban. Previously, she was a 2023–2024 fellow at the Cherrick Center for the Study of Zionism and a 2022–2023 Knapp fellow at the Vidal Sassoon International Center for the Study of Antisemitism (SICSA), both at Hebrew University. Her publications include “Repealing the ‘Zionism is Racism’ UN Resolution following the End of the Cold War” in the Fall 2024 issue of Israel Studies and “A Tale of Two Documents: How ‘Zionism as Racism’ Resurfaced at the World Conference against Racism (WCAR)” in the Spring 2025 issue of the Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism.

David Patterson

dxp103120@utdallas.edu

David Patterson holds the Hillel A. Feinberg Distinguished Chair in Holocaust Studies at the Ackerman Center for Holocaust Studies, University of Texas at Dallas, and is a Senior Research Fellow for the Institute for the Study of Global Antisemitism and Policy (ISGAP). He has lectured at universities on six continents and throughout the United States. A winner of the National Jewish Book Award, the Koret Jewish Book Award, the Hadassah Myrtle Wreath Award, and the Holocaust Scholars' Conference Eternal Flame Award, he has published more than 40 books and more than 250 articles, essays, and book chapters on antisemitism, the Holocaust, and Jewish studies.

His most recent books are Antisemitism Morally Required in the Wake of Ten/Seven (Academic Studies Press, forthcoming), Twenty-Six Questions along the Path to Wisdom (Wipf & Stock, forthcoming), Eighteen Words to Sustain a Life (Wipf & Stock, 2023), Judaism, Antisemitism, Holocaust: Making the Connections (Cambridge, 2022), Shoah and Torah (Routledge, 2022), Portraits: Elie Wiesel's Hasidic Legacy (SUNY, 2021), The Holocaust and the Non-Representable (SUNY, 2018), Anti-Semitism and Its Metaphysical Origins (Cambridge, 2015), and A Genealogy of Evil: Anti-Semitism from Nazism to Islamic Jihad (Cambridge, 2010).

Andrew Pessin

Andrew.Pessin@gmail.com

Andrew Pessin is Professor of Philosophy at Connecticut College, former Campus Bureau Editor for The Algemeiner, and Founding Director of the Institute for the Critical Study of Antizionism. His recent books include Israel Breathes, World Condemns (2 vols.); Refuting the Lies Told About Israel; Anti-Zionism on Campus: The University, Free Speech, and BDS; and Poisoning the Wells: Antisemitism in America. His articles address many aspects of the campus environment for Jews and Israel supporters, including the question of whether antizionism is antisemitism (the short answer is yes). He has also published four novels, including Nevergreen (2021), an academic satire about campus cancel culture and its harmful effects on the Jews which, unfortunately, proved prophetic after the October 7 massacre. His most recent novel, Bright College Years (2024), is about how colleges used to be before they all went crazy. He enjoyed some moments of fame portraying “The Genius” on the former Late Show with David Letterman. For more information about him and his work, visit www.andrewpessin.com. To learn more about the Institute for the Critical Study of Antizionism, visit www.icsaz.org and icsa.substack.com.

Uzi Rabi

uzirabi18@gmail.com

Professor Uzi Rabi, PhD (Tel Aviv University, 2000), is the Director of the Moshe Dayan Center for Middle Eastern and African Studies and a Senior Researcher at the Center for Iranian Studies at Tel Aviv University. His research focuses on the modern history and evolution of states and societies in the Middle East, Iranian-Arab relations, oil and politics in the Middle East, and Sunni-Shi'i dynamics. Uzi is also an ISGAP Senior Research Fellow.

Haras Rafiq

haras.rafiq@isgap.org

Described by The Rt Hon, The Lord Gove of Aberdeen, CH, former UK MP, Minister and Secretary of State, as an “exemplary moderate figure” and a “pious Muslim and British patriot committed to peace and cultural harmony” (Celsius 7/7, p. 102), Haras Rafiq has been a counter-extremism and counter-terrorism expert since 2004. He is currently Vice President for Policy at the Institute for the Study of Global Antisemitism and Policy (ISGAP), where he previously served as Interim Managing Director. He has delivered and consulted on international counter-extremism and counter-terrorism projects across the UK, the US, the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) region, and Canada. Previously, he served for over seven years as CEO of the Quilliam Foundation/International, the world's first counter-extremism think-tank. Before 2004, he held senior positions within large international corporate organizations for over 10 years.

Haras has advised successive UK governments, UK Prime Ministers, world leaders, UK Ministers, Secretaries of State and ministers internationally. He has served on multiple government task forces and advisory groups, including Prime Minister David Cameron's Community Engagement Forum Task Force and the UK Government task force established under Prime Minister Tony Blair following the 2005 London terrorist bombings. He has testified before UK All-Party Parliamentary Groups, US Senate Committee hearings, the European Parliament, and the Canadian Parliament. He has also served as a Trustee with the Franco-British Council, Muslims Against Antisemitism, and SECURE Canada and has been an advisor to Europol's European Counter Terrorism Centre advisory group on online terrorist propaganda.

Haras has delivered major projects on radicalization, deradicalization and counter-messaging, including Families Against Terrorism and Extremism (FATE), spanning 110 organizations across the UK and Europe and 90 in North Africa, and Muslims Against Terrorism and Extremism (MATE), involving 300 masjids in the United States. He has presented internationally on academic and political platforms, authored numerous research and policy reports, and regularly appears on CNN, BBC, Sky News and other major outlets. He has written for international publications including The Times, The Telegraph, and The Wall Street Journal, served as a cultural ambassador through the UK Government's "Projecting British Islam" initiative, and sat on the UK Northwest Board of the Mosaic initiative, established by then HRH Prince Charles.

Yossi Shain

shain@tauex.tau.ac.il

Yossi Shain is an Israeli lawmaker and a Professor of Political Science. He holds prominent positions as the Chair of Tel Aviv University's School of Political Science, Government and International Affairs, the Director of the Frances Brody Institute for Applied Diplomacy, and the head of the Abba Eban Graduate Program in Diplomacy. Additionally, he is a Full Professor (Emeritus) of Comparative Government and Diaspora Politics and the Founding Director of the Program for Jewish Civilization at Georgetown University. Yossi is also a Senior Research Fellow at ISGAP.

Natan Sharansky

Natan Sharansky is the Chair of ISGAP. Throughout his life, he has demonstrated unwavering dedication to the Jewish people. As a courageous dissident in the Soviet Union, Natan championed the freedom of Jews to emigrate, leading to his nine-year imprisonment. After his release, he made Aliyah to Israel, devoting another nine years to Israeli politics, advocating for Soviet Jews to build new lives in Israel. Following his political career, Natan served as the head of the Jewish Agency for nine years. He is also an accomplished author of four books and has been honored with numerous accolades, including the Congressional Medal of Freedom and the 2020 Genesis Prize for his contributions to the Jewish community.

Charles Asher Small

charles.small@isgap.org

Dr. Charles Asher Small is the Founding Director and President of ISGAP and the Director of the ISGAP-Woolf Institute Fellowship Training Programme in Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies, Discrimination and Human Rights at the Woolf Institute, Cambridge, UK. Charles is also the Goldman Fellow at the Harold Hartog School of Government and Policy and a Senior Research Fellow at the Moshe Dayan Centre for Middle East and African Studies, Tel Aviv University. He was the Koret Distinguished Fellow at the Hoover Institution, Stanford University and a Visiting Researcher, St. Antony's College, Oxford University. Charles also currently serves as a Researcher at St Edmunds College, Cambridge University.

Charles received a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from McGill University, Montreal; an MSc in Urban Development Planning in Economics from the Development Planning Unit (DPU) at University College London; and a Doctorate of Philosophy (DPhil) from St. Antony's College, Oxford University. Charles completed post-doctorate research at the Groupement de recherche ethnicité et société, Université de Montréal. He was the VATAT Research Fellow (Ministry of Higher Education), Ben Gurion University, Israel, and has taught in the departments of sociology and geography at Goldsmiths' College, University of London; Tel Aviv University; and the Institute of Urban Studies, Hebrew University, Jerusalem.

Charles convened groundbreaking academic seminar series in the emerging field of contemporary antisemitism studies at Columbia University, Fordham University, Harvard University, McGill University, National University of Kyiv Mohyla Academy, Kyiv, Sapienza University, Rome, the Sorbonne and the CNRS, Paris, Stanford University, University of Miami, Yale University, as well as an academic training program for professors at St. Catherine's College, Hertford College, St. John's College, and St. Antony's College, Oxford University.

Charles was the Founding Director of the Yale Initiative for the Interdisciplinary Study of Antisemitism (YIISA), the first interdisciplinary research center on antisemitism at a North American university. At Yale, he taught in the Political Science Department and the Program on Ethics, Politics and Economics, and ran a post-doctorate and graduate studies fellowship program. He was an Associate Professor and the Director of Urban Studies at Southern Connecticut State University (SCSU), and an Assistant Professor at Tel Aviv University in the Department of Geography. He lectured internationally and worked as a consultant and policy advisor in North America, Europe, Southern Africa, and the Middle East. Charles specializes in social and cultural theory, globalization and national identity, sociocultural policy, social movements, and racism(s) – including antisemitism(s).

Charles is the author of books and articles including the five-volume Global Antisemitism: A Crisis of Modernity (ISGAP); The Yale Papers: Antisemitism in Comparative Perspective (ISGAP, 2015); Antisemitism in Comparative Perspective: Volume Two (ISGAP, 2016); The ISGAP Papers: Antisemitism in Comparative Perspective: Volume Three (ISGAP, 2018) and Social Theory – A Historical Analysis of Canadian Socio-Cultural Policies Race and the Other.

Charles is committed to creating scholarly programming and research on contemporary antisemitism at top tier universities internationally and establishing contemporary antisemitism studies as a recognized academic discipline. Charles is currently leading an international research project on the impact of soft power and undocumented funding on higher education as it pertains to antisemitism. Charles also has a human rights advocacy background, including being the Chair of the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry and Ethiopian Jewry, Montreal, and served as the Chair of the African National Congress Solidarity Committee of Canada.

Rick Sopher

rick@sopher.co.uk

Rick Sopher is emerging as a key figure in interfaith scriptural dialogue. With his background as a Jew whose family lived in Babylon (Iraq) from ancient times, Rick has forged new ways of understanding the links between the Bible and the Qur'an. Beginning in November 2020, he convened a reading group comprising the world's leading authorities on religious texts to discuss the themes contained in the book. He has engaged in discussions with Muslim Imams in the UK comparing Jewish and Muslim texts, which have appeared online in podcasts. He graduated from Christs College, Cambridge in 1981 and had a career in finance, rising to CEO of Edmond de Rothschild Capital Holdings. In 2007, for his work in religious education, he was awarded the Chevalier de la Légion d'honneur by French President Jacques Chirac.

Jonathan Spyer

jonathan.spyer@gmail.com

Jonathan Spyer is a journalist and Middle East analyst. He is a research fellow at the Jerusalem Institute for Strategy and Security, a fellow at the Middle East Forum, and a freelance security correspondent for Janes Information Group. Spyer is the author of Days of the Fall: A Reporter's Journey in the Syria and Iraq Wars (Routledge, 2017).

Lev Topor

lev-topor@hotmail.com

Dr. Lev Topor recently completed his tenure as an ISGAP Research Fellow in Critical Antisemitism Studies, Discrimination and Human Rights at the ISGAP-Woolf Visiting Scholars Programme on Antisemitism Studies at the Woolf Institute, Cambridge. Lev is also a Senior Research Fellow at the Center for Cyber Law and Policy (CCLP) at the University of Haifa and a former Visiting Research Fellow at Yad Vashem in Jerusalem. Lev is an interdisciplinary researcher who studies the cyber domain and anonymous communications, international affairs, as well as antisemitism, racism, Holocaust denial, and conspiracy theories. He is also the author of Phishing for Nazis: Conspiracies, Anonymous Communications and White Supremacy Networks on the Dark Web (Routledge (2023), an evidence-based, undercover study of neo-Nazi communities on anonymous online platforms. Lev is also the co-author (with Jonathan Fox) of Why Do People Discriminate Jews? (Oxford University Press, 2021). Lev has published over a dozen peer-reviewed research articles and reports on the above-mentioned research topics.

Miriam Wagner

emw36@cam.ac.uk

Dr. Esther-Miriam Wagner is the Executive Director of the Woolf Institute and Fellow of St Edmund's College, Cambridge. Miriam joined the Woolf Institute in 2013 having been Research Associate at the Cambridge University Library and was appointed Director of Research in 2017. She is an Affiliate Lecturer at the Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, and teaches on the MPhil in Middle Eastern Studies: Muslim-Jewish Relations at the University of Cambridge.

Wagner completed her doctorate at the University of Cambridge on Judaeo-Arabic in the Cairo Genizah and has written and edited numerous books and articles on sociolinguistics, historical linguistics of Judaeo-Arabic and Yiddish, scribal practice, and Jewish-Muslim relations in Egypt and Muslim Spain as reflected in the Genizah sources. These include Scribes as Agents of Language Change (2013), Merchants of Innovations. The Languages of Traders (2016) and A Handbook and Reader of Ottoman Arabic (2021). Her work has been featured on TV and radio programs, such as on BBC3's "The Essay," in History Magazine, and in documentaries on the Cairo Genizah.

Miriam is also the Vice-President of the Society for the Medieval Mediterranean and the Editor-in-Chief of the prestigious journal Al-Masāq.

PARTICIPANT BIOGRAPHIES – SCHOLARS-IN-RESIDENCE

Daniel Allington

daniel.allington@kcl.ac.uk

Daniel Allington is a Reader in Social Analytics at King's College London, a Senior Associate Fellow of the Counter Extremism Group, and Deputy Editor of the Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism. He has published extensively on antisemitism and extremism, including the ground-breaking open access book, Islamist Antisemitism: A Neglected Hate (Counter Extremism Group, 2025). As well as working in the university and think-tank worlds, Allington has provided research, advice, and training to many UK government agencies and civil society organizations.

David Alemany

david.alemany@europarl.europa.eu

David Alemany is a two-time recipient of Spain's First National Award for Excellence in Academic Performance, the Spanish Ministry of Education's highest academic distinction. He holds a European PhD in Cultural Studies from the University of Bologna, where his dissertation was awarded summa cum laude. His scholarship is informed by his undergraduate studies at the University of Cologne in Germany, his graduate studies at Cornell University in the United States, and his fellowship at Yad Vashem's International Institute for Holocaust Research in Jerusalem, Israel.

His scholarly work focuses on memory, identity, religion, and the psychic dimensions of self-narration. Working at the intersection of hermeneutics, psychoanalytic thought, philosophy of religion, and cultural studies, Alemany examines how individuals narrate themselves in response to trauma, displacement, and the search for meaning. His publications explore philosophical autobiography, religious experience, Jewish identity, and Holocaust memory.

Alemany has taught philosophy, literature, and cultural anthropology at the University of Seville and the National University of Distance Education in Spain. Since 2024, he has served as a Political Advisor and Strategist at the European Parliament in Brussels, where his work addresses broader questions of EU affairs, with a particular focus on EU-Israel relations and EU-Latin American relations.

Hagit Arieli-Chai

harielichai@huc.edu

Hagit Arieli-Chai specializes in language acquisition and proficiency, with a particular emphasis on communicative competence and learner identity. She holds a PhD in Foreign Languages and Literatures, with a concentration in Hebrew Studies, from the University of Strasbourg. She currently serves as the Hebrew Language Coordinator at Hebrew Union College, which partners with the Louchheim School for Judaic Studies at the University of Southern California (USC). In her language courses, Professor Arieli-Chai integrates Israeli history and culture to deepen students' linguistic development and cultural understanding. Her research focuses on language acquisition methodologies, the linguistic phenomenon of Hebrew roots, and the development of cultural competency. She has published several articles in Revue européenne des études hébraïques (REEH) – European Journal of Hebrew Studies and has presented and published with the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL). She is certified by ACTFL as a national assessor in both oral and written language proficiency and has also published in The Language Educator (TLE). Currently she is a visiting scholar at the USC Casden Institute.

Elad Ben David

eladbd608@gmail.com

Dr. Elad Ben David is a fellow in the ISGAP–INSS Training Program for Critical Contemporary Antisemitism Studies, and his research focuses on contemporary Islam in America and on other Muslim minorities in Europe and Japan. Prior to his collaboration with ISGAP, Ben David completed postdoctoral fellowships at the Center for the Study of Conversion & Inter-Religious Encounters (CSoc) at Ben-Gurion University and in the “Intertwined Worlds” program at the Haifa Laboratory for Religious Studies (HLRS) at Haifa University. His doctoral dissertation in the Department of Middle Eastern Studies at Bar-Ilan University examined Da’wa (call to Islam) in post-9/11 America, focusing on the online discourse of prominent American imams, with particular emphasis on Shaykh Yasir Qadhi. Ben David also serves as a board member of the Israeli Association for the Study of Religions (IASR) and is active in the Jerusalem Interfaith Center, where he participates in Muslim–Jewish dialogue initiatives aimed at fostering solidarity and mutual understanding—which has become especially relevant in the post-October 7 era.

Balázs Berkovits

balazs.berkovits@yahoo.com

Balázs Berkovits is a researcher in the Comper Center at the University of Haifa and a fellow of the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism (LCSCA). He is also the book review editor of the Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism (JCA). He was trained as a philosopher and a sociologist in Hungary and France, and obtained a Nationalism Studies degree at Central European University (CEU), Budapest. He has published on topics related to social theory, the epistemology of the social sciences, antisemitism, antizionism, and Hungarian Jewry. He is currently working on a study on the reemergence of the “Jewish problem” in contemporary works of philosophical, social, and political criticism, and on various projects dealing with the relationship between conspiracy theories, critique, and antisemitism. As a journalist, he occasionally writes about the political and social situation in contemporary Hungary.

Ceren Doğan

Ceren.Dogan@med.uni-heidelberg.de

Ceren is a licensed psychotherapist and psychoanalyst (International Psychoanalytic Association) and a postdoctoral researcher at the Institute for Psychosocial Prevention and Psychotherapy at Heidelberg University. She is currently involved in a research project, funded by the German Federal Ministry of Research, Technology, and Space, investigating Israel-related antisemitism, disinformation, and identity construction among adolescents aged 14 to 22 in Germany. The project develops and evaluates educational interventions aimed at preventing antisemitism, antidemocratic attitudes, and extremist world views. Ceren's academic work is therefore situated at the intersection of research, education, and prevention, focusing on the psychosocial and psychodynamic foundations of antisemitism, extremism, and intergroup conflict. By integrating psychodynamic theory with empirical social research, her goal is to better understand why antisemitic narratives can become psychologically compelling for certain groups of young people, particularly in times of political uncertainty and social crisis, and how such dynamics can be countered.

Her other academic interests include intergroup conflict and reconciliation (e.g. in Israeli–Palestinian workshops), with a particular focus on the role of mentalizing capacities in shaping affect regulation and socio-political perception. In a recent project, she and her colleagues examined adolescents' capacity to imagine the future under conditions of social crisis. Ceren also maintains a broader interest in the intersections of film, literature, and psychoanalysis.

Michael Easson

MEasson@eg.com.au

Michael Easson is Chairman of the Northfield Foundation, set up in 2025 by means of a bequest from the late Millie Phillips to fight antisemitism and to promote Jewish pride in Australia.

Michael is Executive Chairman of EG Funds Management, which invests in real estate in Australia; Chairman of the underground utility company Reveal; and Director of Avani Solutions, the energy management business, and other PropTech-related companies. A longtime activist in the Australian Labour Party and a part-time labour movement historian, Michael is disturbed by rising, casual, and active antisemitism on the Left.

Michael holds a BA in Political Science from the University of New South Wales, an MSc in Sustainable Urban Development with Distinction from Campion Hall, University of Oxford, a PhD in History from the Australian Defence Force Academy, UNSW, and a PhD in Transport Planning and Urban Management from the University of Melbourne. Michael was awarded Member of the Order of Australia in 1997.

Fran Ereira

fran@northfield.org.au

Fran Ereira is an executive leader, builder of high-growth organizations and non-executive director with more than 20 years' experience across fintech, digital commerce, retail, and technology. She is currently Chief Executive Officer of the Northfield Foundation, where she is building a strategic venture philanthropy organization that partners with founders, high-impact organizations, and community leaders to develop and scale solutions that strengthen community resilience, combat antisemitism, and address complex societal challenges.

Fran's career has been defined by scaling ambitious ideas and turning vision into impact. As CEO/Country Head of Klarna Australia and New Zealand, she led the launch and rapid growth of the global payments platform in the region. In its first 12 months, the business acquired more than 830,000 consumers, signed over 870 merchants—including many of Australia's leading retailers—and built a team of 65 during the pandemic. Earlier, as General Manager of Sales and Solution Delivery at Zip Co, Fran joined the business in its early growth phase and played a key role in its commercial expansion, helping scale the company to unicorn status while progressing the business toward cashflow break-even.

Alongside her executive work, Fran serves as a non-executive director, bringing expertise in strategy, governance, digital transformation, and organizational growth. She is passionate about mentoring emerging leaders and advocating for greater representation of women in leadership. Inspired by her older sister, Fran is also a strong advocate for disability inclusion and supporting carers within the community.

Fran holds a Bachelor of Business from Monash University and is a graduate of the Australian Institute of Company Directors.

Shira Fishman

shira_fishman@williamjames.edu

Dr. Shira Fishman is an Associate Professor of Psychology at William James College, with training in social psychology and a research focus on Jewish identity, group processes, and radicalization. Her current research examines Jewish identity development through a social psychological lens, with particular attention to race, belonging, and contemporary communal dynamics. She also explores how certainty in one's beliefs shapes susceptibility to conspiracy theories and misinformation.

Prior to her faculty role, Dr. Fishman served as a Research Scientist at the Cohen Center for Modern Jewish Studies and later as a Visiting Research Scholar at the Mandel Center for Studies in Jewish Education. She worked at the National Consortium for the Study of Terrorism and Responses to Terrorism (START) at the University of Maryland, where her research explored how belonging, identity formation, and the pursuit of personal significance can contribute to support for extremist ideologies.

Beginning in fall 2026, Dr. Fishman will serve as the inaugural director of a new concentration in Jewish Mental Health at William James College. She is an Academic Engagement Network (AEN) Fellow for 2026. Dr. Fishman earned her BA from Barnard College and her PhD in social psychology from the University of Maryland.

Katherine Harbord

K.A.Harbord@ljmu.ac.uk

Professor Harbord is currently a senior lecturer in politics at Liverpool John Moores University, where she teaches on the Criminology and History programs, in the areas of human rights, global citizenship, and the history of the Middle East. She provides Country of Origin Information for the cases of Palestinian asylum seekers to the European Union, and the majority of her current research is policy-related. Katherine is a seasoned election observer, is passionate about democracy, and has been an ally in the protest against antisemitism in the British academy since 2002. She is a graduate of the 2019 ISGAP-Oxford Summer Institute.

Or Arthur Honig

ohonig@ufl.edu

Or Arthur Honig is currently an Israel Institute Visiting Fellow at the University of Florida's Budd Shorstein Center for Jewish Studies, as well as a postdoctoral fellow at the University of Florida's Violence Conflict and Security Lab. He received his PhD in political Science from UCLA and did his masters and BA at the Hebrew University and Haifa University, respectively. He has published approximately 25 articles in international refereed journals on various international relations topics including: Israel's security and foreign policy, terrorism and counterterrorism, radical forces in the Middle East, government and opposition relations in the Middle East, the propaganda of dictators and terrorists, and American foreign policy. He has taught and held fellowships at numerous universities including Duke University, Tel Aviv University, University of Calgary, Tokyo International University, and Hampden Sydney College. He is currently researching Islamist movements in Africa and South Asia. He was born in Israel but also grew up in the United Kingdom.

Max Horder

max.horder@gmail.com

Max Horder is an anthropologist working broadly on political myth, with a particular interest in technology, social polarization, authoritarianism, and the rise of conspiracy theories in Europe. He is particularly focused on the intersection between cultural anthropology and sociological theories about structural change and looks to use traditional ethnographic approaches to understand the turbulent transformations occurring in contemporary British society.

Max obtained his PhD in Anthropology at Princeton University, where his dissertation research became his first book: What Brexit Means: An Anthropology of Polarisation and Cultural Change (Routledge 2025).

Philippe Karpe

philippe.karpe@gmail.com

Philippe Karpe is a French jurist and senior researcher in international human rights law. For more than thirty years, his work has examined how law conceives, or fails to conceive, the collective realities that make a people – its communities, its belongings, its memory – and the rights owed to human groups threatened with effacement. Much of this work has concerned the rights of indigenous peoples.

With particular urgency since 2023, he has brought this attention to contemporary antisemitism. He approaches it as a jurist, drawing on the idea of Jewish indigeneity and on the asymmetries that govern how the Jewish people may, or may not, be named in legal and public discourse. He sees this as a continuation of his earlier commitments: in working against the effacement of indigenous peoples, he was already working for the Jewish people. He is joining the ISGAP Summer Institute to deepen his understanding of contemporary antisemitism alongside other scholars and to contribute the perspective of a jurist attentive to the rights of communities and the legal instruments that can protect them. Above all, he is coming to learn and take part in a lasting community of research.

Joel Klaff

J.L.Klaff@derby.ac.uk

Joel Klaff is currently the Interim Head of Law at the University of Derby, School of Law. He graduated with an LLB from the University of London in 1987 and an LLM in International Tax from the University of Miami, School of Law in 1988. His current scholarship and research focuses on the creation of a “sustainable jurisprudence” for the purposes of ensuring the fair and just application of law. In this capacity, he explains how the incidents of inequality that are manifested through acts of discrimination such as racial, sexual, or gender discrimination will never be curbed or contained by our current jurisprudential approach to these matters.

He argues that the current jurisprudential approach focuses too significantly on the procedural application of law at the expense of the politics of the person, thereby rendering this traditional approach to jurisprudence unsustainable, and adopts a similar analysis to incidents of genocide, human trafficking, and sexual abuse, again arguing that our current approach to jurisprudence is incapable of preventing these incidents, let alone regulating them. The more sustainable approach is one that embraces the dignity of the individual, and in this capacity it is the politics of people that should decide the fairness of law. He is currently extremely keen to focus his research on antisemitism and the relationship between Jewish emancipation, Zionism, and Israel as the homeland for Jews.

Lesley D. Klaff

l.d.klaff@shu.ac.uk

Lesley Klaff is ISGAP's new Director of Academic Engagement; a Senior Lecturer in Law at Sheffield Hallam University, UK, an Affiliate Professor of Law at the University of Haifa in Israel, and an affiliate Antisemitism Studies faculty member at Gratz College, US. She is editor-in-chief of the Journal of Contemporary Antisemitism and a research fellow at the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism (LCSCA). She serves as an Academic Advisory Board Member of the Institute for Holocaust Research and Education (IHRE) in Minnesota and of the Louis D. Brandeis Center for Human Rights under Law in Washington, DC. She has published on a variety of topics relating to contemporary antisemitism, including Holocaust inversion, campus antisemitism, antisemitism in British politics, the IHRA definition, the intersection of antisemitism and misogyny, antisemitism and the law, and the legal construction of Jewish identity. Most recently, she contributed two chapters to the seminal American law school casebook Antisemitism and the Law by Professor Robert Katz (Carolina Academic Press, 2025). She is also a regular speaker at conferences and other events.

Dani Kranz

dani@danikranz.com

Dani Kranz has been researching contemporary Jews in Germany empirically since 2002. She is the head of research at the Tikvah Institut, Berlin, and will serve as the first Hertie Visiting Professor in Jewish Perspectives Within Antisemitism Studies and Research on Contemporary Jewry at the Hochschule für Jüdische Studien from October 2026. She is the president of Präsenzen – Netzwerk jüdische Gegenwartsforschung e.V. (Presences – Network for Research on Contemporary Jewry), a board member of the Association for the Social Scientific Study of Jewry (ASSJ), a founding member of the Network of Jewish University Teachers (Netzwerk jüdischer Hochschullehrender, NJH), as well as an associate fellow with the Institute for Jewish Policy Research (JPR), London. Her research covers migration, integration, ethnicity, memory cultures and politics, cultural heritage, and antisemitism in its various forms—antisemitism and philosemitism—as well as questions of law, statehood, political life, and organizational structures in relation to contemporary Jewish life.

Malik Mohammed Sohail

malik.sohail@duke.edu

Dr. Malik Muhammad Sohail is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Sociology at the International Islamic University Islamabad, Pakistan. His research lies at the intersection of sociology of religion, social psychology, and wellbeing, with a particular focus on the roles of religion, social support, interfaith harmony, and religious coexistence in promoting human flourishing. He also serves as a non-resident Faculty Scholar at the Center for Spirituality, Theology, and Health and as a Senior Research Fellow at the Center for Health Policy & Inequalities Research at Duke University. His research has been published in leading international journals. He aspires to contribute to a world where people transcend religious differences and work together to serve vulnerable and marginalized communities with compassion, dignity, and a shared commitment to the common good.

Andre Oboler

ceo@ohpi.org.au

Andre Oboler is CEO of the Online Hate Prevention Institute, an Adjunct Associate Professor in the Law School at La Trobe University, and a Fellow of the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism. He has worked at the leading edge of international efforts to combat antisemitism, online hate, and extremism since 2004. He served as a co-chair of the Global Forum for Combating Antisemitism from 2009 to 2017 and co-led its working group on antisemitism online and in the media. He is an expert member of the Australian government's delegation to the International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance (IHRA) and serves on IHRA's Committee on Antisemitism and Holocaust Denial and Academic Working Group. He served on the Malmö International Forum on Holocaust Remembrance and Combating Antisemitism's advisory group, and as a panelist for the UN's 13th Session of the Forum on Minority Issues, which focused on hate speech and social media. He has served as a Vice-President of the IEEE Computer Society and Chair of the IEEE's Global Policy Caucus, as an elected Jewish community leader at state and national level in Australia, and as National Secretary of the Union of Jewish Students (UK & Ireland). He has published widely on antisemitism and particularly antisemitism in social media. He holds a PhD in Computer Science from Lancaster University (UK) and both an LLM (Juris Doctor) and an honors degree in Computer Science from Monash University (Australia).

Tim Orr

tmorr@iu.edu

Tim Orr, DMin, is a researcher, writer, and educator whose work focuses on Islamic antisemitism, Shiite political Islam, and the intersection of religion and politics. He holds six degrees, including an MA in Islamic Studies from the Islamic College London/Middlesex University, where he studied under Shiite Muslim scholars and concentrated on Islamic theology, history, and contemporary Shiite Muslim thought.

His research focuses on Islamic antisemitism, Shiite political theology, and Iranian revolutionary thought. He gives particular attention to the ways anti-Jewish narratives shape religious and political movements. His interest in these questions grew out of years of studying within Shiite academic settings and engaging Muslim scholars on issues of religion, politics, and identity.

Dr. Orr is the author of a forthcoming book tentatively titled What Antisemitism Explains: Why Societies Blame Jews for Their Unfinished Dreams, which examines antisemitism as a recurring explanatory system through which societies externalize responsibility for political, moral, and historical failure.

He has lectured, presented research, and participated in academic dialogues at institutions and forums including the University of Oxford, Imperial College London, Indiana University Columbus, and the University of Tehran.

His current work explores the religious and ideological foundations of antisemitism, especially within Islamist and revolutionary movements, and the ways anti-Jewish narratives continue to shape contemporary political thought.

Jon Papernick

jonpapernick@gmail.com

Jonathan Papernick was born and raised in Toronto, Canada. He is the author of the acclaimed debut collection The Ascent of Eli Israel, as well as two additional story collections, There Is No Other and Gallery of the Disappeared Men. His novels include The Book of Stone and I Am My Beloveds. His work has earned starred reviews from Publishers Weekly and Library Journal, and has been translated into Spanish and Italian.

Papernick's short fiction has been widely anthologized. His story "Biafran Man" was adapted into a radio play by the NoSleep Podcast, and "In Flagante Delicto" was adapted into the short film The Man with the Third Eye, a 2025 nominee for the Massachusetts Independent Film Festival.

Papernick has taught fiction writing at Emerson College since 2007 and currently serves as Assistant Professor in the Department of Writing, Literature, and Publishing.

Austin Parcels

AustinP@bnaibrith.ca

Austin Parcels is Manager of Research and Advocacy at B'nai Brith Canada, where his work focuses on contemporary antisemitism, extremism, public discourse, institutional accountability, Jewish communal security, and the relationship between anti-Zionism and antisemitic mobilization in Canada.

His work combines applied research, public policy, media engagement, and civil-society advocacy. He leads and supervises research on antisemitic incidents, extremist activity, hate movements, and emerging threats affecting Jewish communities and institutions. His work supports B'nai Brith Canada's national advocacy, government relations, public communications, community education, and institutional interventions.

His professional focus includes post-October 7 antisemitism, anti-Zionist antisemitism, campus and institutional responses, Holocaust distortion, extremist networks, online hate, antisemitic conspiracy narratives, hate crime data, and the relationship between antisemitism, law, democratic institutions, and public policy.

April Powers

april@projectshema.org

The descendant of survivors of chattel slavery in the US and Jews who fled state-sponsored violence in eastern Europe, April has led Diversity, Equity & Inclusion efforts for some of the world's largest companies. After making international news for being canceled over speaking out against antisemitism, April now focuses much of her work on normalizing Jewish inclusion and safety in healthy pluralistic organizations and on Black Jewish solidarity. She is the VP of Engagement for Project

Shema and Cofounder of Jewbian Princess. A subject matter expert on antisemitism for global companies, NGOs, and campuses, she was selected to deliver the first and only antisemitism and Jewish identity course on LinkedIn Learning, the world's largest online learning platform. April is a keynote speaker whose voice and interviews may be found in permanent Jewish museum exhibits, a variety of podcasts, Instagram reels, and documentaries. Her articles and opinion pieces are featured in Moments Magazine, The Forward, and Jweekly.

April received her bachelor's degree in Spanish Language and Literature from the University of California, Berkeley, where she also had a focused area of study in African American Studies. Having lived in the US, South America, and Europe, April is bilingual and thus brings a global perspective with local understanding to her work.

Shannon Quigley

shalomshannon@icloud.com

Shannon E. Quigley has a PhD in Holocaust Studies/History from the University of Haifa in connection with the Weiss-Livnat International Center for Holocaust Research and Education. Her MA is also in Holocaust Studies from the University of Haifa. Her dissertation assessed religious responses to the Holocaust, including the contribution of women to Jewish-Christian dialogue and their critiques of Christian anti-Judaism. Her MA thesis assessed antisemitic propaganda efforts of the Institute for the Study and Eradication of Jewish Influence on German Church Life, a Nazi-era German Protestant Institute. Shannon teaches on the Holocaust, the Churches and the Holocaust, modern Israeli history, and post-Holocaust Jewish-Christian dialogue efforts. Her research continues to assess historical Christian antisemitism and anti-Judaism alongside anti-Zionism and anti-Israel sentiment in the post-October 7 era and the historical precedents and ideologies backing varying types of antisemitism today.

Steven Samols

s.samols@ucl.ac.uk

Dr. Steven Samols is a Postdoctoral Fellow in the ISGAP-Woolf Institute Programme for Critical Antisemitism Studies. Dr. Samols's research explores the importance of photography to European Jewish identity and representation. He is currently a Rothschild Postdoctoral Fellow at University College London's Department of Hebrew and Jewish Studies. Dr. Samols received his PhD from the Department of History at the University of Southern California in 2023. He also holds an MSc in European Studies from the London School of Economics and Political Science (2016) and a BA from New York University (2012).

Louis Schubert

lschuber@ccsf.edu

Louis Schubert, tenured professor at City College of San Francisco, holds a PhD in Political Science from the University of Southern California. His core interests are ideas of power/powerlessness, questions of security/insecurity, and popular culture, preferably all mixed together. He focuses on teaching, from core classes in government and political theory, specialties including "Middle East Government and Politics" and "Environmental Politics and Policy," to innovative courses such as "Comics, Power, and Society." He has taught "Terrorism and Counterterrorism" (under "Administration of Justice") since a fellowship on the topic in Israel in 2006. He is the lead author of the text The Irony of Democracy. In 2022-2025, Schubert was Visiting Professor at the Center for Jewish Studies at the University of California, Berkeley, where he introduced the courses "Powerlessness and Superpowers: Comic Books and Jewish Identity" and "Jews and Judaism in the American Political Mind." He remains at UC Berkeley as a Research Associate. He returns to ISGAP's Summer Institute after attending in 2024.

Sasha Seagull

sashaseagull4@gmail.com

Sasha Seagull is a legal and policy researcher specializing in antisemitism, online extremism, disinformation, and international law. She holds a JD from Chapman University and an LLM in Public International Law from the University of Amsterdam, where her research focused on state-sponsored disinformation and incitement under international criminal law.

She currently serves as Executive Director of M3 Antisemitism & Holocaust Education Consultancy, where she works on educational initiatives, institutional outreach, and policy engagement relating to antisemitism, Holocaust education, and Title VI compliance. Her broader research examines the role of digital platforms and algorithmic amplification in facilitating hate speech, extremism, and mass violence.

Sasha's recent work has explored the intersection of antisemitism, online propaganda, and emerging forms of digital radicalization. Through her research and advocacy, she aims to bridge legal scholarship, public policy, and practical institutional responses to contemporary extremism and discrimination.

Yitzhak Sokoloff

ysoko@me.com

Yitzhak Sokoloff is an ISGAP Research Fellow. An Israeli political analyst, educator, and activist, he is a graduate of Columbia University and taught Political Science and Jewish Philosophy at the Hebrew University. He is the founder of Keshet Educational Journeys in Jerusalem, which has brought tens of thousands of Jews and non-Jews to Israel since 1996. Yitzhak has personally led dozens of innovative educational tours and strategic seminars in Israel and throughout the Middle East, including in Egypt, Jordan, Bahrain, the UAE, Oman and Qatar.

Yitzhak writes, teaches and speaks extensively on Israeli and Palestinian political culture, the dilemmas of ethical combat confronting the IDF under international law, Israeli strategy on the Palestinian issue, and questions of Jewish self-understanding. Since October 7, in addition to returning to service in the IDF, Yitzhak has focused on the dynamics and implications of antisemitism and the delegitimization of Israel among Jews and academics.

Yitzhak lives in Efrat in Judea and Samaria—the so-called “West Bank”—where he is at the forefront of dialogue projects between “settlers” and Palestinians and efforts to curb the recent wave of Jewish vigilante violence.

Lori Sousa-Meixell

sousa_lori@roberts.edu

Lori Sousa-Meixell, PhD, LCSW, is a tenured Professor of Social Work, academic leader, and policy advocate with over two decades of experience dedicated to challenging antisemitism and advancing Israel-related education. An expert in macro social work and policy practice, Dr. Meixell is widely recognized for identifying and addressing bias within academic and professional institutions.

At the forefront of discourse on Jewish identity and social justice, Dr. Meixell founded Scholars Advancing Antisemitism Awareness in Social Work Education (SASE), a research collaborative featuring partners from the University of Pennsylvania and USC. She currently serves as Principal Investigator for a National Landscape Study on Antisemitism in CSWE-accredited programs and is a co-editor for a landmark 2025 special issue on antisemitism for the Journal of Human Behavior in the Social Environment.

Her recent scholarship includes “Reflections on scholarship and professional responsibility: Challenging antisemitism in social work” (2025) and the forthcoming chapter, “Can Social Justice Be Unjust: The Social Work Professional Post October 7.”

Dr. Meixell's commitment to advocacy is reflected in her community leadership. She has raised significant funding for Israel educational events and developed accredited cross-cultural missions to Israel through strategic partnerships with the Philos Project and Passages. A frequent contributor to the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, she is a recipient of the Ambassador of Humanity Award and the 2025 Faculty Professional Activity Award at Roberts Wesleyan University. Dr. Meixell holds a PhD from Baylor University and is an active member of the Academic Engagement Network (AEN) and the Faculty Against Antisemitism Movement (FAAM).

Daniel Staetsky

staetsky@gmail.com

Daniel holds a PhD in Social Statistics and Demography from the University of Southampton and a Master's degree in Population Studies from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. He is the Director of the European Jewish Demography Unit at JPR.

Before joining JPR in 2012, Daniel worked as an analyst at RAND Europe, as a research fellow at the Southampton Statistical Science Research Institute, and as a coordinator of migration statistics at the Central Bureau of Statistics in Israel. Daniel's work has been widely published and covers the topics of demography, survey methodology, social statistics, and the quantitative study of antisemitism. During his time at JPR, he has undertaken work for numerous clients, including the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights, the European Jewish Association, Lauder-Chabad, Partnerships for Jewish Schools, and Langdon.

Daniel is passionate about the popularization of demography and numerical thinking. His blogs at the Times of Israel, Jewish World in Data, and Demography of Israel use demography and statistics to analyze contemporary social and political realities, and his YouTube videos on Jewish demography are watched by tens of thousands of Hebrew-speaking viewers.

Ingrid Weinberg

iw265@cam.ac.uk

Ingrid is a PhD candidate in law at Downing College, University of Cambridge, where she is the recipient of the Squire Postgraduate Studentship in Law. Her research explores the regulation of hate speech in the contemporary world, particularly in cases involving the right to protest.

Ingrid holds a Master of Laws with Distinction in International Dispute Resolution from King's College London, where she received the School of Law Prizes for Best Dissertation and Best Student. She also holds a Master of Laws from Columbia Law School, where she graduated as a Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar, as well as a Bachelor of Laws with First Class Honours from the Melbourne Law School.

Prior to commencing her PhD at the University of Cambridge, Ingrid worked as a commercial litigator in Australia and the United Kingdom, specializing in mass tort claims. She also spent a year and a half as a judicial clerk to a federal judge.

John Williams

jpwilliams@collin.edu

John Williams is an Associate Professor of American History and Sociology at Collin College in Texas with more than eighteen years of experience teaching history, sociology, and humanities courses. His academic background includes a PhD in the History of Ideas from the University of Texas at Dallas, along with graduate degrees in Sociology, Liberal Arts, and Teaching. His scholarly interests focus on Jewish immigration to America, the First World War, Nazi Germany and the Holocaust, antisemitism, American protest movements, and the relationship between historical memory and political identity.

Throughout his career, John has taught at a variety of institutions, including Collin College, Dallas College, Tarrant County College, the University of North Texas, and Texas Southmost College. His courses have ranged from US History and World Civilization to specialized seminars examining antisemitism, the American Jewish experience, social protest, and the evolution of American political culture. In addition to classroom instruction, John has worked extensively on issues and questions surrounding civic education, critical thinking, and the role of the humanities in contemporary society.

John's research and publications have explored subjects including Jewish diaspora immigration, the free speech movement, the cultural impact of the First World War, and the contributions of American Jews to the civil rights movement. He has presented his work at numerous national and international conferences on topics such as American exceptionalism, the Paris Peace Conference, campus antisemitism, protest movements, and the ethical challenges posed by artificial intelligence in education and the humanities. His academic work as both a scholar and educator continues to focus on fostering historically grounded inquiry, intellectual rigor, and meaningful public dialogue in an increasingly polarized world.

Gad Yishayahu

gad.yishayahu@citystgeorges.ac.uk

Dr. Gad Yishayahu is a scholar and practitioner specializing in foreign policy crises and crisis management. He currently serves as a Visiting Lecturer in the Department of International Relations at the University of London (City), where he completed his PhD, and as a Research Fellow at the International Institute for Counter-Terrorism, Reichman University (IDC Herzliya).

Yishayahu was previously a Visiting Scholar at the Department of Politics and International Studies (POLIS) at the University of Cambridge, and a Senior Fellow and Lead Researcher on Security and Crisis at the Cambridge Middle East and North Africa Forum (MENAF). His research focuses on contemporary foreign policy crises and their implications on the discipline of crisis management.

Salomon Chiquiar-Rabinovich

scrabinovich@gmail.com

Salomon Chiquiar-Rabinovich is a Boston-based business immigration attorney and organizational change management consultant focusing on inclusion strategies for neurodiverse professionals. He was the founding chair of the Hispanic National Bar Association's International Law Section. He currently serves as Chair of the HNBA Section for Attorneys with Disabilities and Their Allies, Cochair of the Attorneys with Disabilities Affinity Employment Section, and as a member of the ABA Presidential Task Force to Combat Antisemitism. He holds a BSFS, MSFS, and JD from Georgetown University, where he was a Junior Fellow at the Georgetown University School of Foreign Service's Institute for the Study of Diplomacy. In addition, he completed an MS in Leadership Administration from Boston College, with a concentration on Leading and Managing Organizational Change. Currently he is a second-year Ph.D. student in the Graduate School of Global Inclusion and Social Development at the University of Massachusetts, where his research focuses on comparative international organizational models for the inclusion of neurodiverse professionals.

ISGAP FACULTY FELLOWSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM: COMBATTING HOLOCAUST DISTORTION AND GLOBAL ANTISEMITISM

Iqbal Akhtar

iakhtar@fiu.edu

Iqbal S. Akhtar is Associate Professor of Religious Studies and Politics & International Relations at Florida International University (FIU), where he has taught since 2012, and the Founder and Executive Director of The East-West Foundation. He holds a PhD in Interdisciplinary Studies from the University of Edinburgh, an MA in Religious Studies from the University of Denver, an MA in Political Science and International Relations from Tulane University, and an AB in Political Science and Jewish, Islamic, & Near Eastern Studies from Washington University in St. Louis.

At FIU he founded the first US research center for Western Indian Ocean Studies and directed North America's first academic Jain Studies Center. From 2021 to 2025, he served as Program Director for the Covenantal Pluralism Initiative at the Templeton Religion Trust, overseeing a $30 million global grants portfolio. A two-time Fulbright Scholar in Pakistan and Tanzania, he is the author of Covenantal Pluralism (Springer, 2026) and The Khoja of Tanzania (Brill, 2015). Following October 7, 2023, he founded Miami Interfaith to advance Muslim–Jewish dialogue. His work bridges scholarship, spirituality, and service across religious and international divides.

Sarah Blenner

blenner.sarah@gmail.com

Sarah Blenner, JD, MPH, is a public health practitioner, educator, and mediator whose work sits at the intersection of law, public health, and Jewish identity.

Blenner's antisemitism portfolio spans research, education, and policy. She believes antisemitism is a public health issue causing measurable harm to individuals, communities, and institutions. Her work incorporates tools from public health, law, and facilitation to address harm and prevent antisemitism.

Appointed by UCLA's Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost to the 2024 Taskforce to Combat Antisemitism and Anti-Israeli Bias, Blenner developed policy recommendations. She co-created an anti-bias and antisemitism curriculum for health professionals, serves as Co-Engagement Chair of Public Health Professionals Against Antisemitism, a national working group aimed at combating antisemitism, and sits on the Rabbinic and Professional Advisory Board for the Center for Jewish Law and Judaic Studies at DePaul University College of Law. She is currently a Faculty Fellow at the Academic Engagement Network, exploring antisemitism and academic freedom alongside faculty nationwide.

Blenner serves as Director of the Applied Practice Experience in Community Health Sciences and Director of pinkLab at UCLA Fielding School of Public Health, where she has secured over $3.5 million in grants, taught more than 1,100 students, and built partnerships with over 100 community organizations. She maintains an independent consulting and mediation practice focused on conflict resolution, community building, and resilience.

Blenner received her JD from IIT Chicago-Kent College of Law, MPH from UIC School of Public Health, and BA with High Honors in Jewish Studies from Emory University.

Caryn Block

cjb17@tc.columbia.edu

Caryn Block is Professor of Psychology and Education at Teachers College, Columbia University. She is a social-organizational psychologist whose research examines identity, bias, belonging, and institutional processes in educational and workplace settings. Her scholarship brings theories of identity, belonging, and institutional processes from social-organizational psychology to the study of contemporary antisemitism, investigating how contemporary antisemitic experiences shape Jewish belonging, psychological well-being, and engagement within institutional contexts.

Integrating quantitative and qualitative methods, Dr. Block's research advances conceptual and empirical understanding of contemporary antisemitism while informing institutional policy and practice. Her recent scholarship includes the development and validation of the Contemporary Antisemitic Experiences Scale (CAES), one of the first multidimensional measures of contemporary antisemitic experiences among Jewish individuals, and examines how institutional responses influence the ways Jewish individuals interpret, navigate, and respond to these experiences.

Dr. Block is a Faculty Fellow of the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism, serves on the Founding Advisory Council of the Contemporary Antisemitism Studies Association (CASA), and is a Research Advisor to the Jewish Community Mental Health Initiative (JCMHI). Her work seeks to strengthen empirical understanding of contemporary antisemitism while informing institutional responses that promote Jewish belonging and well-being.

Hüseyin Çiçek

hueseyin.cicek@outlook.com

Priv.-Doz. Mag. Dr. Hüseyin Çiçek is a scholar of religious studies, political extremism, and transnational ideological movements with a particular focus on Islamism, antisemitism, migration, and minority politics in Europe and the Middle East. He completed his Habilitation in Religious Studies at the Friedrich-Alexander-University Erlangen-Nürnberg in 2021 with a cumulative thesis examining religion, violence, minorities, and the geopolitical challenges of modernity. His research combines perspectives from religious studies, political thought, contemporary history, and extremism research.

Dr. Çiçek has published extensively on Turkish Islamism, Diyanet and DITIB structures in Europe, the Islamic Community Milli Görüş, Turkish-Islamist and far-right extremist formations, and antisemitic ideological networks within transnational contexts. His work particularly examines the intersection of religion, identity politics, authoritarianism, and ideological forms of exclusion.

At the Pädagogische Hochschule Weingarten, he is actively engaged in teacher education and the development of critical approaches to historical consciousness, antisemitism prevention, and democratic education. His current research focuses on Holocaust distortion, Islamist antisemitism, and the transformation of antisemitic narratives within educational, political, and digital environments in German-speaking Europe.

Carolyn Dudek

Carolyn.M.Dudek@hofstra.edu

Dr. Carolyn M. Dudek is Professor of Political Science, Director of European Studies, and ERASMUS+ Jean Monnet Chair at Hofstra University. An internationally recognized scholar of European Union politics and policy, Professor Dudek specializes in EU responses to antisemitism, examining the intersection of European integration, national politics, and the contemporary rise of antisemitism across Europe.

She is currently completing a monograph on European Union and member-state policies combating antisemitism, with particular attention to developments in Germany and France. She is also co-editor and contributor to the forthcoming volume The Future of European Policy: Challenges, Trends and Opportunities.

Professor Dudek's work has been supported by numerous prestigious awards and fellowships, including Fulbright Scholarships to Spain and Argentina, postdoctoral fellowships at Columbia University's European Institute and the European University Institute in Florence, Italy, and a research fellowship at Harris Manchester College, Oxford University. Drawing on her research and international engagement, Professor Dudek developed the undergraduate course "The Politics of Antisemitism," bringing contemporary policy debates and scholarly inquiry into the classroom.

Ellen Feig

efeig@hotmail.com

Ellen Feig is a tenured Professor of English with over twenty years of experience in higher education in curriculum and course design, as well as in composition, literature, media, and pedagogy. She has a BA from Smith College, a JD from New York Law School, an MFA in creative writing, an MA in educational technology, and has completed post doctorate work in public policy and leadership at the Harvard Kennedy School. At Bergen Community College, where she has taught composition, literature, and creative writing since 2008, she has launched and co-directed interdisciplinary collaborations in the areas of peacebuilding, justice, and reconciliation, and is responsible for all Holocaust-related programming.

Feig is founder of TEDxBergenCommunityCollege and Get Boxed, Inc., a nonprofit that provides college readiness programs for incarcerated women. Fellowships and grants supporting her work have included those from the Wye Center/Aspen Institute, the Center for Peace, Justice, and Reconciliation (three-time grant recipient), and the Academic Engagement Network. She was awarded the Philanthropy Institute Award in 2008 for her work in philanthropy and public policy.

Her scholarly and public work focuses on such topics as antisemitism, antizionism, and digital media, on storytelling and narrative-based approaches, and on the impact of media narratives and education on public opinion, public discourse, and public policy.

Donna Gitter

Donna.Gitter@baruch.cuny.edu

Professor Donna M. Gitter is a Professor of Law at Baruch College's Zicklin School of Business, City University of New York. She has published numerous articles relating to judicial and legislative responses in the European Union and the United States to issues at the intersection of medical technology and ethics, including biotechnology patenting, genetic research, and assisted reproduction. Her scholarship has appeared in the Berkeley Journal of International Law, the Columbia Science and Technology Law Review, the Duke Journal of Comparative and International Law, the New York University Law Review, and the University of Pennsylvania Journal of International Law.

Professor Gitter was awarded a Fulbright-SyCip Distinguished Lecturing Award for the 2016–2017 academic year and has received several research grants and teaching awards. She has presented her work at international conferences in Europe, Asia, and the United States.

Professor Gitter is the President of the CUNY Alliance for Inclusion, a diverse group of educators at the City University of New York who believe in Israel's right to exist and are committed to working toward a collegial academic community free of bias and intimidation. In that role, she speaks in defense of Jewish and Israeli students, faculty, and staff, helps plan programming that brings diverse voices to campus, and collaborates with Jewish community organizations to advance common policy goals.

Leonard Hammer

hammer.leonard@gmail.com

Leonard Hammer is the holder of the Lakin Chair for the Holocaust, Human Rights, and Comparative Genocide at the University of Arizona's Center for Judaic Studies. He has written articles and books about cultural heritage protection, human rights, and international law. Leonard has worked for the Open Society Foundation to develop human rights programming in former USSR countries and on a variety of human rights projects for NGOs around the world. Leonard also co-created the wholly online Human Rights Practice graduate degree at the University of Arizona in 2016–2017, a project-based degree involving NGOs and guest lecturers from around the world.

Günther Jikeli

gjikeli@iu.edu

Günther Jikeli is the Erna B. Rosenfeld Associate Professor for the Study of Antisemitism and Associate Director of the Institute for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism (ISCA) at Indiana University Bloomington. His research combines computational and qualitative methods to examine antisemitism and hate speech in digital environments. He is the author of Antisemitism among Muslims in Europe (2015) and has published widely on online extremism and Holocaust distortion, including an ISCA report on antisemitic mobilization following October 7, 2023. He leads the Social Media and Hate Research Lab at IU and developed the AnnotHate annotation portal for collaborative labeling of hate speech data. He is currently completing a manuscript on antisemitism among Syrian refugees in Germany.

Adam Louis-Klein

adamlouisklein@gmail.com

Adam Louis-Klein is a writer, anthropologist, philosopher, and founder of the Movement Against Antizionism (MAAZ). He is an Adjunct Fellow at the Z3 Institute, a Postgraduate Fellow at the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism, and a PhD Candidate at McGill University.

Adam's scholarly work explores Jewish peoplehood, Jewish sovereignty, and the symbolic structures of anti-Jewish hate, drawing on connections between civilizational identity, recursive ethnography, and the politics of indigeneity.

Adam has written for The Free Press, Tablet, Sapir, The Hub Canada, Times of Israel, and elsewhere. He holds degrees in philosophy and anthropology from Yale University (BA), the New School for Social Research (MA), and the University of Chicago (MA).

His doctoral research at McGill is based on fieldwork in the Vaupés region of the Amazon with the Desana people, focusing on cosmology, translation, and ethnoreligious identity. Returning from the field two days after the October 7 genocide, he witnessed the collapse of his entire academic and professional network and has since dedicated himself to educating the public about antizionism as the dominant form of Jew-hatred in our age.

Richard Marcus

Richard.Marcus@csulb.edu

Dr. Richard R. Marcus is Full Professor of Global Studies at California State University, Long Beach, where he has served as Founding Chair of the Department of Global Studies, Founding Director of the Global Studies Institute, Founding Director of the MA in International Affairs, and Co-Founding Director of the Beach Institute for Dialogue and Community. A multilingual scholar with experience across eight countries, he has served as PI or Co-PI on over $3 million in grants.

He is the author of two books and more than five dozen articles and book chapters, has been a visiting scholar at Ben Gurion University (Israel), the University of Toamasina (Madagascar), and the University of Nairobi (Kenya), and has two decades of experience as an advisor or consultant for the World Bank, the United Nations, and other agencies. His current book project is entitled At the Edges of Peoplehood: Micro-Minority Jews from East Africa to the Andes and the Politics of Recognition.

Dr. Marcus is a two-time recipient of the CSULB President's Award for Outstanding Faculty Achievement (2020, 2026) and created CSULB's only general education course on Jewish identity. He served as Founding National Director of Education at the Museum of Tolerance and President of the Board of Directors of Jewish Long Beach.

Andrea J. Martin

amm7370@psu.edu

Andrea J. Martin is an Assistant Professor of Law at Penn State Dickinson Law and co-founder and Director of the Center for Jewish Legal Studies. Her scholarship focuses on constitutional law, anti-discrimination law, and the development of legal frameworks to identify and combat antisemitism in contemporary institutional, academic, and public settings.

Through her research, teaching, and collaborative initiatives, she works to strengthen civil rights protections and advance the emerging field of Jewish Legal Studies.

Professor Martin's scholarship has been published in leading journals, including the Yale Law & Policy Review, Brooklyn Law Review, Boston University Law Review Online, and Pepperdine Law Review. She has presented her work at numerous law schools, including Cardozo, UCLA, the University of Pennsylvania, Hofstra, and Villanova. Her current work examines the legal lessons of the Holocaust and the role of democratic institutions, civil rights enforcement, and constitutional protections in addressing modern antisemitism.

She serves on the Law Faculty Consultation Committee advising the Claims Conference's Holocaust, Antisemitism and the Law (HALL) Center, is a Fellow of the Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism, and serves on the Board of Penn State Hillel.

Prior to entering academia, Professor Martin served as a Special Assistant Attorney General in Rhode Island's Appellate Division and later worked for more than a decade as a strategic legal advisor in employment and labor law.

Dyanne K. Martin

dyanne.martin@wheaton.edu

Dr. Dyanne K. Martin holds a PhD in Comparative Cultures, Languages, and Literatures and is Associate Professor of English and Core Studies at Wheaton College. A Senior Research Fellow with ISGAP, she examines historical and contemporary antisemitism, with particular attention to Holocaust literature, Christian antisemitism, and antisemitism in higher education.

Her prior fellowships include the University of Miami's Holocaust Studies Institute and Cornell University's School of Criticism and Theory.

A native of Jamaica, Dr. Martin brings a multicultural perspective to her work on diasporic literatures and ethnic conflict. Her scholarship also engages classical rhetoric, visual rhetoric, semiotics, slave narratives, Caribbean literature, and identity performance in Jewish and Black communities. She has developed several courses that confront antisemitism, including a semester-abroad Holocaust program that prepares students for informed advocacy. She has previously been awarded Professor of the Year and the John S. and James L. Knight Endowed Teaching Chair.

Jessica Roitman

j.v.roitman@vu.nl

Dr. Jessica Roitman is Full Professor of Jewish Studies at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam (VU), a position she has held since 2021. She holds a PhD in History from Leiden University (2009) and has built her academic career in the Netherlands over the past twenty-six years. Trained as a historian of Jewish life in the Caribbean and Atlantic world, she has held positions at the Royal Netherlands Institute of Southeast Asian and Caribbean Studies (KITLV), Leiden University, and as a postdoctoral fellow at Birkbeck College, University of London. She is (co)editor-in-chief of the Journal of Early American History, the Amsterdam University Press's Jewish Urban Cultures series, and Brill's Privacy Studies series, and serves on the Board of the Menasseh ben Israel Institute.

Since October 7, 2023, Professor Roitman has emerged as one of the most prominent public intellectuals in the Netherlands engaging with antisemitism and antizionism in Dutch academic and public life. She has published op-eds in major national newspapers and magazines, appeared on television, and delivered public lectures on the normalization of antisemitism in Dutch higher education. She is an outspoken Zionist, active in the anti-BDS movement at Dutch universities, serves on the sounding board for the governmental Taskforce Antisemitismbestrijding, and maintains close working relationships with leading Dutch Jewish communal institutions.

Sharon Shahaf

sshahaf@gratz.edu

Dr. Sharon Shahaf is an Israeli-American media scholar, educator, research entrepreneur, and Affiliate Faculty in the Doctoral Program in Antisemitism Studies at Gratz College. Her work focuses on global media and the rise of antisemitism, with particular attention to mediated environments, anti-Israeli antisemitism, digital hate, and the implications of rising antisemitism for Israeli creative industries. Building on her expertise in qualitative research methods and critical media studies, she developed and teaches Qualitative Approaches to Antisemitism, Media Analysis in Antisemitism Studies, and Publishing in Antisemitism Studies, among the first courses designed specifically to train doctoral students in qualitative and media-analytic approaches within the emerging field of Antisemitism Studies.

Dr. Shahaf earned her PhD in Radio-Television-Film from the University of Texas at Austin and previously served as Assistant Professor of Global Television Studies at Georgia State University. She is the co-editor of Global Television Formats: Understanding Television Across Borders (Routledge, 2012), recipient of the Society for Cinema and Media Studies' Best Edited Collection Award. Her current research examines antisemitism after October 7 through media and popular culture, including ongoing ethnographic research on Israel's Eurovision delegation. She is also developing a special issue of the Journal of Jewish Film and New Media devoted to antisemitism and media analysis.

Brenda Sheingold

bsheingo@gmu.edu

Dr. Brenda Helen Sheingold is the Division Director for the Healthcare Administration Programs and Professor in the Department of Health Administration, Policy, and Informatics. She was awarded a dual-titled PhD from George Mason University (GMU) in Public Policy and Nursing, and a Master's degree from the Johns Hopkins Carey School of Business, where she also earned a Graduate Certificate in Women's Leadership and Change Management. Her undergraduate degree is in Nursing, and she practiced as an Emergency Department nurse for 20 years. Dr. Sheingold helped pioneer the role of a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) to provide medical forensic care to survivors of sexual assault.

She received national recognition in 2026 from the Association of University Programs in Health Administration (AUPHA) by winning the Quint Studer Gratitude Prize for Teaching Excellence.

Since Dr. Sheingold accepted an appointment as the Division Director, George Mason's MHA program has won multiple nationally competitive awards from the Commission on the Accreditation of Health Administration Education (CAHME). The most recent Innovation in Healthcare Administration Education award was conveyed in March 2025.

Oren Baruch Stier

stiero@fiu.edu

Oren Baruch Stier, PhD, is Assistant Vice Provost for Combating Antisemitism and Professor of Religious Studies at Florida International University in Miami. He also serves as Director of the Global Jewish Studies Program in the Steven J. Green School of International & Public Affairs and directs FIU's Holocaust & Genocide Studies Program, which facilitates teaching and learning about the Holocaust and other genocides through a certificate program, teacher training, community outreach, faculty research, and more.

Stier is author of two books, Committed to Memory: Cultural Mediations of the Holocaust (2003) and Holocaust Icons: Symbolizing the Shoah in History and Memory (2015), and co-editor of Religion, Violence, Memory, and Place (2006). His research addresses Holocaust education, Jewish memory, Holocaust testimony, and the material and visual culture of the Shoah and its remembrance. Stier has been a Center for Advanced Holocaust Studies research fellow at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum and was the Guest Curator for a Wolfsonian–FIU teaching gallery exhibition, "Race and Visual Culture under National Socialism." Most recently, he guest-edited, with Laura Levitt, a special issue of MAVCOR Journal, "Tending to Holocaust Objects: Interrogating the Sacred." In 2020–2021, Stier served on a Florida Department of Education expert group writing new statewide standards for Holocaust education. He regularly leads single- and multi-day workshops for educators on teaching the Holocaust.

Meng Yang

allshallpass@gmail.com

Dr. Meng Yang is an assistant professor at Peking University, where she founded China's most influential Jewish civilization course and created the country's first university-level Yiddish course. Her research focuses on global antisemitism, the geopolitics of China–Middle East–US relations, Holocaust education in China, Jewish exile in Shanghai, and Sino-Israeli innovation cooperation. She is also a fellow of the London Centre for the Study of Contemporary Antisemitism.

PARTICIPANT BIOGRAPHIES – WIESEL-KING JUNIOR SCHOLARS

Dean Cohen

dean.golan95@icloud.com

Since October 7, 2023, Dean Cohen has served over 300 days in Gaza, Lebanon, and Syria on extensive active reserve duty as an IDF Special Forces combat medic. He has spent most of his time back in the US as a public speaker and an educator. He develops and runs speaker tours for high schools, universities, and interfaith communities, as well as for public officials and lawmakers, in which he shares firsthand battlefield testimony alongside educational dialogues and programming initiatives. Cohen is a commander, a leader, and a student who will always be there when duty calls.

Nervanah Ghabra

nervanagabra9@gmail.com

Nervanah Ghabra is an undergraduate student pursuing a degree in English Literature and Linguistics (LLCE) at the University of Haute-Alsace in France. Originally from As-Suwayda, Syria, Nervanah's personal journey has deeply shaped her academic interests and dedication to counter-extremism and peacebuilding. She is remarkably multilingual, speaking seven languages, including Hebrew.

Driven by a vision to build active intercultural bridges, Nervanah has shared her language-learning journey to encourage the Druze community to learn Hebrew and engage with Jewish culture. Her goal is to serve as a cultural and linguistic bridge between the Druze of As-Suwayda and the Jewish community, fostering direct understanding and dismantling long-standing barriers. Demonstrating her dedication and linguistic agility, Nervanah began addressing the Israeli public directly in Hebrew after less than seven months of study. Through her initiative, "Bridge of Peace," Nervanah focuses on promoting intercultural dialogue, challenging prejudice, and combating hate speech and antisemitism. Through the ISGAP-Cambridge Summer Institute, she aims to acquire the advanced academic and strategic frameworks necessary to elevate this grassroots activism into a structured global educational movement.

Machelle Kabir

machellekabir20@gmail.com

Machelle is a fourth-year student studying English Literature and Letters at Scripps College, an all-women's liberal arts institution in Claremont, California. She is an aspiring anti-discrimination lawyer, committed to fighting antisemitism. She has recently returned from Oświęcim, Poland, where she acted as a research assistant in the archives unit at the Auschwitz-Birkenau Museum and Memorial. There, Machelle focused on curating a database with information regarding Hungarian- Jewish women transported from Bergen-Belsen to Auschwitz. Her research earned her a spot among the museum's top 10 interns. This summer, Machelle is pursuing research in the archives unit at Yad Vashem – The World Holocaust Remembrance Center in Jerusalem. She is active at her campus Hillel, where she combats antisemitism via Israel advocacy; she has recently been elected as an Emerson Fellow for StandWithUs. Following her graduation in Fall 2026, Machelle hopes to attend Cambridge University as an MPhil candidate in Asian and Middle Eastern Studies (Hebrew and Pre-Modern Jewish History and Culture).

Madeline Levin

madelinelevin2027@u.northwestern.edu

Madeline Levin is a Master's candidate in Counseling Psychology at Northwestern University, where her work sits at the intersection of clinical training and scholarly research. As a mental health counselor in training, her clinical interests include trauma-focused counseling, spiritually informed counseling, and identity development in emerging adulthood.

As a Research Assistant in the MIDRASH Lab at Northwestern University, Madeline investigates the psychological impacts of antisemitism on mental health with a particular focus on peer-to-peer interactions. She is curious to understand how interpersonal encounters with antisemitic bias shape psychological wellbeing, identity, and resilience in students. Madeline is currently working on a project developing deliberate practice training materials to help therapists respond effectively to client disclosures of antisemitism with particular attention given to the ways antisemitism interacts with racism.

Madeline is honored to join the ISGAP Summer Institute as a Wiesel-King Jr. Scholar and looks forward to growing her knowledge alongside a community of emerging and established scholars.

Naomi Leviya

njkrun@gmail.com

Naomi Leviya will begin her undergraduate studies in Israel in the fall of 2026. From 2021-2024, she served in the Israeli Defense Forces as a combat soldier in the Search & Rescue Unit of the Home Front Command, earning an Award of Excellence. During high school, Naomi served as Department Head for J-Girls Magazine and a Staff Writer for Fresh Ink for Teens. Her work on Jewish identity, feminism, and social issues has been featured in the Pittsburgh Jewish Chronicle, Jewish Telegraphic Agency, and Hadassah Magazine.

Naomi has spoken about gender and her experience as a soldier to students at the Thomas R. Kline School of Law of Duquesne University and the University of Pittsburgh. She holds a 200-Hour Multi-Style Yoga Teacher Certification from the Raj Yoga School in India and has volunteered her time at the PachaMama EcoVillage in Costa Rica. Naomi is fluent in English and Hebrew.

Liron Matalon

matalonliron@gmail.com

Liron Matalon is a Law and Economics student at Tel Aviv University specializing in the intersection of international law and political science. He previously served as a media advisor at the Office of the President of Israel, Isaac Herzog, where he contributed to strategic communication and public policy. Prior to this role, Liron was a journalist for Israel's national public radio, covering the October 7 (Swords of Iron) war. His academic background includes a Research Fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania, at the Center for Ethics and the Rule of Law. He also served as an Emissary of the Jewish Agency in New York City, and studied Jewish Philosophy at the Shalom Hartman Institute.

Serhan Ozgul

sozgu002@fiu.edu

Serhan Ozgul is a student at Florida International University, where he is pursuing a double major in Economics and Business and Governmental Leadership, with a minor in History. As a member of the Honors College and a Senior Leadership Fellow at the Adam Smith Center for Economic Freedom, he participates in intensive, small-group seminars with international policymakers and economic leaders, gaining insight into global governance, economic policy, and leadership.

Alongside his academic work, Serhan has gained experience in technology and project development, particularly in roles involving software development, digital systems, and international collaboration. He has contributed to cross-border initiatives in both Europe and Southeast Asia, working with diverse teams and stakeholders to support innovative, accessible solutions in areas such as digital infrastructure, fintech, and healthcare.

Serhan studies usool al-fiqh, Hanafi fiqh, and kalam under scholars from the United Kingdom, the United States, and Germany, while also engaging deeply with the Risale-i Nur tradition under teachers of the Nur Cemaati. He is involved in the Naqshbandi order, where he learns aspects of prophetic biography (sirah) and Islamic mysticism. This intellectual and spiritual exploration is complemented by his longstanding interest in Catholic theology, which he studied during his Abitur and at university level, studying the works of Thomas Aquinas.

He has led and contributed to projects focused on historical reflection, active citizenship, and combating antisemitism, earning recognition from the Friedrich Ebert Foundation. At FIU, he is actively involved in interfaith dialogue through the Jewish-Muslim Dialogue Fellowship, promoting understanding across cultures and religions.

Joshua Segal

js6457@columbia.edu

Joshua Segal is currently a third-year student in the dual enrollment program between the Jewish Theological Seminary and Columbia University. Joshua is majoring in Financial Economics and Jewish History, possessing a deep interest in Jewish scholarship, especially on contemporary issues such as antisemitism and anti-Zionism in academia and on college campuses. Joshua has completed multiple internships in the financial sector, including in healthcare private equity and at the intersection of finance and artificial intelligence. Throughout his time at the Jewish Theological Seminary, Joshua has written several research papers examining different facets of Jewish history, with a focus on various Jewish subgroups across different periods and regions. Through his involvement in organizations at Columbia, such as Chabad and Meor, he has realized the vital importance of building a strong and resilient Jewish community that can thrive even amidst a dangerous current of antisemitism veiled as anti-Zionism.

Outside of school, he is actively involved as the Founder of The Childhood Cancer Project, a nonprofit organization that he established in high school after surviving cancer at age eleven. Through this foundation, he has planned fundraising programs, shared his experience at events, and helped fund research for pioneering treatments at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center and Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center at the University of Miami.

Tali Smus

talismus613@gmail.com

Tali Smus is a student leader, public advocate, and aspiring policy professional. Her work focuses on contemporary antisemitism, Jewish identity, and the challenges facing Jewish communities in the United Kingdom and beyond. She is currently pursuing her studies at King's College London while gaining practical experience through her work in the UK

Parliament, where she has developed a strong interest in public policy, political affairs, and community engagement.

Tali's interests lie at the intersection of antisemitism studies, public policy, higher education, and civic leadership. Through her speaking, writing, and advocacy, she seeks to contribute to informed and evidence-based approaches to combating antisemitism and strengthening Jewish life in democratic societies. Having worked as a research assistant in the Henry Jackson Society, and currently in the Shadow Home Secretary's office, she underpins her advocacy work with research and an understanding of how it can impact policymaking.

Alongside her academic and professional commitments, Tali serves as President of Students Supporting Israel at King's College London, leading initiatives that promote education, dialogue, and support for Jewish and pro-Israel students. She is also widely recognized through her public advocacy platform, The British Zioness, where she engages audiences on issues relating to antisemitism, Zionism, Israel, and Jewish communal life.

Leah Shalonov

lshalonov1@pride.hofstra.edu

Leah (Lay-ah) Shalonov is a junior undergraduate student on a pre-law track at Hofstra University in New York. At Hofstra, she is majoring in political science and minoring in presidential studies, with a concentration in the Legal Education Accelerated Program (LEAP).

On a pre-law track, Leah has always had a passion for political affairs, public policy, and legal studies. Over the past couple of years, she has developed a keen interest in understanding and analyzing the rise of antisemitism in the United States and Europe in the post October 7, 2023, environment. Thus, in her sophomore year, Leah partnered with the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) as her community partner in her fellowship with Hofstra's Center for Civic Engagement. Through this fellowship, she researched the state of Jewish life on US campuses and the policies put in place to keep Jewish students safe. Leah was also a Hofstra Rabinowitz Honors College research assistant, where she assisted her professor in examining EU policies in combating antisemitism, specifically with the rise of antisemitism on social media. Leah is excited to become a Wiesel-King Jr. Scholar at the ISGAP-Cambridge Summer Institute and is looking forward to gaining greater insight on the connection between law, public policy, and combatting antisemitism.

Xuye Song

xuye.song.22@ucl.ac.uk

Xuye Song has just completed his final year of undergraduate study at University College London, where he majored in Central and Eastern European History and Jewish Studies. At UCL, he served as Departmental Academic Representative for three years and recently finished his job as a Senior Transition Mentor. In his third year, Xuye spent an exchange year at the University of Washington. There, he was honored by the Stroum Center for Jewish Studies as the 2024–2025 Jewish Studies Student of the Year. He also worked as a Research Assistant on a family history letter project. Driven by a deep commitment to Yiddish language and culture, Xuye participated in both the YIVO–Bard Uriel Weinreich Summer Program and the Steiner Summer Yiddish Program at the Yiddish Book Center. During the latter, he interned with the Wexler Oral History Project, where he conducted post-interview processing of Yiddish-language oral histories. Through this work, he gained direct insight into personal experiences of antisemitism during and after the Holocaust. Since high school, Xuye has aspired to expand comparative research in genocide studies, particularly between the Holocaust and the Nanjing Massacre. His undergraduate thesis focuses on massacre literature, with particular attention to poetry emerging from these two historical catastrophes. Through ISGAP, he hopes to deepen his study of contemporary international antisemitism and Holocaust education.

Rittika Talukder

rittikatalukder18@gmail.com

Rittika is a student pursuing a Master's degree in History at Presidency University, Kolkata, for which she was to be examined in May 2026). She has submitted and defended her MA dissertation titled “Reading the Shoah in Print: Press in East India (1933–1948)” under the supervision of Dr. Navras Jaat Aafreedi. Rittika looked at a highly neglected part in the historiography of the Holocaust by examining how the press in East India reported about the Holocaust, and drew upon contemporary newspapers in Assamese, Bengali, English, and Hindi for case studies to understand how these newspapers and periodicals downplay the news of the Holocaust.

Her interest in migration, displacement, and minority histories is shaped by her personal experience. In 1992, following the retaliatory violence against Hindus in Bangladesh after the demolition of the Babri Masjid, Rittika's father migrated from Bangladesh to India. Growing up with these memories and histories made her increasingly attentive to questions of exile, belonging, and the precariousness of minority lives. These experiences continue to shape the questions she asks as a historian and have deeply informed her engagement with refugee history and the histories of violence and displacement.

Her broader research interests lie at the intersection of Holocaust studies, genocide studies, and gender studies. She is especially interested in minority studies and refugee history. In the future, she aims to bring narratives from the margins to the center to recover the silent voices.

Goni Wong

goniwong@gmail.com

Goni Wong is a high school senior at the Greenhill School in Addison, Texas, having previously attended the Roeper School in Michigan. Goni is a historically-minded student—someone who has devoted significant time to exploring diverse histories and international affairs—who is also Israeli. The period since October 7 has transformed his intellectual passions into real-world projects aimed at combating antisemitism through holistic historical understanding and constructive dialogue. Currently, Goni is pursuing a capstone project, structured around the Future Problem Solving six-step framework, that tackles these issues head-on. The project's central focus is exploring the subjective nature of the competing historical narratives surrounding the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and examining how these narratives shape and inform radically opposing viewpoints on current-day affairs through constructive dialogue and historical nuance. Still in its early stages, this work includes collaborative research with UIUC on “certainty trap” dynamics in Israel/Gaza discourse, engagement with the Dallas Holocaust and Human Rights Museum, an Israel-specific Viewpoint Diversity Workshop with the Mill Institute, and online advocacy efforts.

Katherine Wyant

katherinewyant12@gmail.com

Katherine Wyant is a Senior Intelligence Analyst at a regional intelligence center, where her work focuses on analyzing antisemitic hate crimes affecting local communities. Prior to her current role, she worked as a legal compliance analyst for a Fortune Global 500 company and as an intelligence analyst focused on local crime trends. She also spent a year in southern Spain after completing her undergraduate studies, where she was embedded in a local school and incorporated English language instruction into daily lessons.

She is currently pursuing a Master of Arts in International Crime and Justice at John Jay College of Criminal Justice, where she is also completing an advanced certificate in Terrorism Studies. Her graduate studies explore the intersection of transnational crime and extremism. Her research interests center on contemporary antisemitism, how extremist narratives generate online, and the ways in which antisemitic ideology spreads in environments where Jewish communities are small or largely absent.

She previously earned a bachelor's degree in Homeland Security, with a concentration in Intelligence Analysis, from Eastern Kentucky University.

ISGAP STAFF IN ATTENDANCE

Elshaday Abraham, Director of Programming and Operations

elshaday.abraham@isgap.org

Elshaday Abraham is the Director of Programming and Operations at ISGAP. Elshaday joined ISGAP following the completion of the MPA Public Administration and Management program at University College London. She completed her BA in International Affairs at the University of Virginia. Prior to her time at ISGAP, Elshaday served as a Program Manager for a USAID-funded project on global health in Washington, DC. She also served with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees as a Protection Intern in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Elshaday drives the publication and programming efforts at ISGAP.

Noah Krasman, Program Coordinator and Data Manager

noah.krasman@isgap.org

Noah Krasman has graduate degrees from Wayne State University (Master of Library and Information Science, 2026) and the Weiss-Livnat International MA Program in Holocaust Studies at the University of Haifa. In 2023, he published an article in the Journal of Genocide Research: “The Paradox of Genocide in Modern Russia: Evolving Narratives of the Siege of Leningrad During the ‘Great Patriotic Operation’.” He completed his MA thesis, “Longing for Despair: Judeopessimism and Jewish Identity Formation in the 21st Century,” in 2024.

Rachel Suggs, Executive Assistant to Dr. Charles Asher Small

rachel.suggs@isgap.org

Rachel Suggs is the Executive Assistant to Dr. Charles Asher Small. Prior to joining ISGAP, she worked as a research analyst at MIND Israel, an Israeli national security consulting group based in Tel Aviv, on the Israel-Diaspora Affairs Team. Her primary project was to research and formulate a national security strategy for combating anti-Israel delegitimization and “soft power” threats. Before joining MIND Israel, she served as a research assistant to the Founding Executive Director of the Holocaust and Human Rights Education Center in New York. She holds a BA (summa cum laude) from the University of Chicago, where she triple-majored in Middle Eastern Studies, Jewish Studies, and Laws. While at the University of Chicago, she represented the Jewish student body in meetings with university leadership and was featured in the Times of Israel as a leading pro-Israel student activist. Her university research focused on the role of the Hebrew Revival within the Zionist movement, which she was invited to present at the UCLA Nazarian Center for Israel Studies. Her published writing focuses on antisemitism and anti-Zionism, and has appeared in the Times of Israel, the Jerusalem Post, the Jewish News Syndicate, and the Jerusalem Report.

MEDIA TEAM

Will Dawson

RAW Pictures, Camera crew

RAW Pictures have been tasked with documenting the entire ISGAP Summer Institute on camera for promotional and informative use online. Will is the Creative Director at RAW Pictures, heading up all the filming and editing for RAW and their clients. Will is a great believer in working with not for profits and charitable organizations to create engaging video content to help them.

Will Littlewood

RAW Pictures, Camera crew

RAW Pictures have been tasked with documenting the entire ISGAP Summer Institute on camera for promotional and informative use online. Will is the head of production at RAW, managing all projects that come into the business and working with clients to ensure they're happy with the films they receive. Will has worked with ISGAP in the past and looks forward to another successful year at the Summer Institute.